Millworker Killed At Crucible; Train Fatally Injures City Man

The GOP presidential nominee was enroute today to Hawaii.

Nixon Needles Democrats On Labor 'Price'

GOP Nominee Flies To Honolulu After Hometown Welcome

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon flew his campaign to Hawaii today after charging his opposition paid with the Democratic platform for the support of labor union leaders.

The Republican presidential nominee and Mrs. Nixon boarded their chartered plane before dawn for a history-making political trip to the mid-Pacific islands that make up the 50th state.

Nixon, due to land in Honolulu at 11:30 a.m.—4:30 p.m. EST—will be the first presidential candidate to seek votes in Hawaii. Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic contender, plans to visit Hawaii and Alaska around September.

At the end of the first day of his hurry-up campaign tour to the West Coast and Hawaii, Nixon accorded a returning hero's welcome at Whittier College, his alma mater. It was his third election year homecoming to the college in his home town, 20 miles from Los Angeles.

Hundreds of townspeople applauded as Nixon's motorcade went by, and a crowd of at least 16,000 packed the little stadium where Nixon played on Whittier's football squad as a substitute tackle.

In his speech Nixon said that "keeping the peace without surrendering principle" is the foremost responsibility of a president. The Eisenhower administration, he said, is keeping America strong, not because it wants war, but because "we know this is the way to avoid war."

He held to a policy of firmness without engaging in a war of words in dealing with nations that threaten the peace. He also said the United States wants "the fact of disarmament instead of the fiction of it," which he said the Soviets have been composing.

Nixon tied in Kennedy and the Democratic platform with union leaders at a news conference after landing in Los Angeles.

Before leaving Washington, he had said Kennedy was taking the "low road" in statements attacking the vice president's disavowal of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's policies.

FBI Arrests Cabbie In Nixon Bomb Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents in Reno, Nev., today arrested a taxicab driver on a charge that he falsely reported a bomb had been concealed on Vice President Richard M. Nixon's westward bound campaign plane.

Nixon, Mrs. Nixon and their party are using a United Airlines charter flight on their present trip to Hawaii, which made a stop at Reno Tuesday before departure for Los Angeles.

Wellsville Measure Requires Downspout Not Drain In Sewers

Legislation providing that all downspouts be disconnected from sanitary sewers within 60 days was ordered Tuesday night by Wellsville City Council after a tie vote and a 1½-hour discussion of the sanitary sewer problem.

Mrs. Mary Rahter, president, cast the decisive vote to bring in the legislation after a 3-3 vote.

Levy For Wellsville Playgrounds Ordered

Legislation to place a half-mill playground levy on the Nov. 8 ballot was ordered Tuesday night by Wellsville Council.

The legislators agreed to consider the legislation after the need was explained by Councilman Wilmer Ralston, who said the levy had been endorsed by the Playground Commission, School Supt. S. E. Daw and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The levy, which will yield approximately $4,500, will provide for acquisition of property, maintenance of the lots and supervision, Ralston said.

The motion for the legislation was made by Councilman Wilmer Ralston with the second by Councilman Aguin Bowling. They were joined in supporting the move by Councilman Clarence Cartwright.

Councilmen Robert Taggart, Paul Nelson and William Strobel voted against bringing in the legislation. Councilman Don Miller was absent.

A motion by Strobel that traps be installed in homes to alleviate the problem, if money is available in the sewage fund, was passed unanimously.

The lengthy sewer discussion was touched off when a letter was read from Delmar T. O'Hara asking the city to take "proper steps" to remedy the water problem in the vicinity of 20th St. and Clark Ave., pointing out the water backs into and around homes.

Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson said the problem is in the process of being remedied, adding he believes it was created by property owners hooking downspouts into sanitary sewers.

Mrs. Rahter commented she had discussed the situation with an Army engineer, who suggested Smith & McGill, the city's consulting engineers, study the problem and make a recommendation.

Taggart said the trouble occurred after manholes were raised when the new storm sewer system was installed.

Mayor William Shoub commented the system works fine except in heavy rains, but John R. Brown, 2000 Danbury Ave., speaking from the audience, disagreed, claiming he has had water in his basement at various times since 1941.

Council also discussed parking meters briefly when Strobel asked the safety-service director what progress has been made toward securing the devices.

Robinson replied the city had not advertised for meters because Council did not designate the number or location.

Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, clerk, was asked to read the ordinance.

State Court To Get Bribe Case Appeal

Cunningham To Ask Supreme Tribunal To Upset Conviction

The conviction of Ira W. Cunningham, former city policeman, for the attempted bribing of a prospective juror in his 1958 burglary trial, will be appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court.

A notice of appeal was filed by Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, Cunningham's counsel, after the 7th District Court of Appeals entry upholding his conviction was returned to Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

In its entry, the Appellate Court said it found no prejudicial errors in the appeal.

Cunningham was found guilty of the bribery attempt March 11, 1959, and was sentenced to a 1-5-year term in the Ohio Penitentiary. However, the sentence was stayed when Cunningham appealed the case to the district court.

The Appellate Court upheld his conviction in April and the formal entry was returned to Common Pleas Court yesterday.

Cunningham was tried on a charge he offered to make up the difference in pay Donald Lockhart, a city drugstore clerk, would get and the jury allowance he would receive if called to serve on the trial of Cunningham and Jerry Raimond, former special officer, for a 1952 burglary of the Burbick Hardware Co. Lockhart never was called.

Cunningham and Raimond were found guilty in 1958, but the Appellate Court threw out the conviction on the grounds the defendants were not tried within the statutory period.

However, the Ohio Supreme Court upheld an appeal by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw and remanded the case to the Appellate Court for arguments on the merits.

Brokaw said last week he would file a motion with the Appellate Court to dismiss the appeal, pointing out the defense never has filed its briefs in the case.

Budget Poses Personnel Cut

Or Hancock Might Order Salary Slash

Unable to complete the lengthy task Tuesday of adopting the county budget for fiscal 1960, Hancock County commissioners will resume their "pencil work" tonight in New Cumberland.

A few cuts in either county personnel or salaries appear in the making as commissioners and Donald Stewart, chief clerk, must count on slashing $48,000 in revenue from county government funds.

The County Board of Education, under a new law passed by the last session of the West Virginia State Legislature, is authorized to appropriate the $48,000 that normally would have been designated for the county payroll.

The board is able to appropriate the funds because assessments in the county are not figured at 50 per cent of the 1958 appraisal conducted by the state tax commissioner.

In the past, boards were penalized in state aid for the county's failure to raise non-utility property assessments up to 50 per cent of the 1958 appraisal figures of Donald C. Carman, state tax commissioner.

But the last legislature put county assessors and courts in the middle by ruling that they must see to it that property is assessed at half its appraised value and that school boards have enough taxing power to raise the money called for under state aid.

Property in the county was appraised for fiscal 1960 at $105,668,253, an increase of over $800,000, but still not up to the required figure, according to Assessor Edward L. Suplee.

Commissioner David N. Thomas of Weirton and Stewart worked the budget into preliminary stages yesterday. Commissioners William C. Graham of Chester and Lyle F. Virden of New Cumberland were not present in the afternoon.

School Budget Is $2,608,702 For Hancock

$201,175 Increase Shown In Funds For '60-61 Operations

The sum of $2,608,702.20 for operating the Hancock County school system in fiscal 1960-61 was approved in the annual budget session of the County Board of Education Tuesday night in New Cumberland.

The budget shows an increase of $201,175.69 over last year's appropriations.

However, over $50,000 of the increase was spent last year and is listed this year in the amount of current obligations, making the total increase less significant.

Levies on property and public utilities will raise $1,654,935 and the remainder will be provided by state aid, tuition, taxes from the sheriff's office and other sources.

Under a new law passed by the last session of the West Virginia State Legislature, the board is authorized to tack on "extra" levies to raise $48,000 in funds it otherwise would have lost because county properties were not assessed at 50 per cent of the 1958 assessment.

In the past, county school boards were penalized in state aid because county courts and assessors did not appraise property at 50 per cent of the level set in 1958 by Donald C. Carman, state tax commissioner.

But this year, the board will not lose any state aid funds. The board lost over $20,000 last year because the appraisal rule was not yet in effect. This year, the board figures to receive $567,196 in state aid—an increase of $66,000, including the penalty assessed last year.

The $1,654,935 in expected revenue will be raised by the following tax levies computed on the number of cents of each $100 in valuation of each class of property:

Class I — 47.15, $20,126; Class II — 94.3, $190,488; Class III, 188.6, $184,837; Class IV — 188.6, $1,346,586.

The remainder of the budget will be derived from the following sources of receipts:

State aid, regular, $566,496; state aid to homebound children and special classes, $700; vocational aid, $10,000; sheriff's tax sales and redemptions, $5,000.

Tuition, $30,000; miscellaneous receipts, $20,000; federal aid to school lunch program, $12,000; state aid for superintendent's salary, $1,473; federal aid, National Defense Education Act, $30,000; sheriff, balance at the beginning of the year, $278,097.60.

Belgians Unperturbed

Katanga To Fight, Leader Tells U.N.

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Tshombe announced today his government has ordered mobilization of all able-bodied men in Katanga province to oppose the scheduled Saturday entry of a U. N. force.

"They will have to fight their way in," Tshombe told newsmen after hearing a broadcast of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's announcement that U.N. forces will take over from Belgian soldiers keeping order in this rich mining province in the southeast Congo.

The Katanga radio broadcast orders for all men to report for mobilization. Tshombe said he has support of tribal chiefs in the decision to mobilize. He charged that a U. N. entry would constitute aggression.

"Katanga troops will not fire first, and we do not intend any aggression," said Tshombe, whose government has declared Katanga's independence of Premier Patrice Lumumba's central Congo government.

"But if U.N. troops try to land here," Tshombe continued, "that will be an act of aggression and we will oppose it."

Belgian officials in Elisabethville did not take his threat seriously. A fact of military life is he does not have the means to put up any real fight.

"Army recruiting is going on steadily," one of the Belgian officers said, "but new personnel have to be trained and they certainly will not be ready to fight the U. N. troops."

The premier said he had not been officially informed of the decision to send U.N. troops to Katanga, announced in Leopoldville Tuesday night by Hammarskjold after the Belgian government agreed to pull its troops in Katanga back to their base camp. Tshombe said he also had no notification from the Belgians of their change of heart.

Autumn Visit Set

Kennedy Plans Campaign Speech In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy will return to West Virginia this fall for what is billed as a major campaign address.

A. S. Barksdale Jr. of Bluefield, state Democratic campaign chairman, quoted Robert Kennedy, the senator's brother, that the Democratic presidential nominee definitely will make a major speech in West Virginia this fall.

The date and place have not been set.

Barksdale was in Charleston today. He was en route home from Philadelphia where he and other state party leaders attended a regional conference yesterday.

Barksdale's announcement means that both major presidential candidates will appear in West Virginia. Earlier, Gov. Underwood said Vice President Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, will campaign in the Mountain State.

Kennedy and Nixon are no newcomers to West Virginia. Nixon has been in West Virginia on numerous occasions.

And it was in West Virginia that Kennedy won a smashing victory over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in West Virginia's presidential preference primary last May 10—a victory which many claim started the Kennedy bandwagon rolling for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The West Virginia Democratic leaders were in Philadelphia yesterday to map plans for the November election campaign. One big decision was to conduct an all-out voter registration drive.

Some 200 Democratic leaders from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, the District of Columbia and West Virginia met in Philadelphia to plan a drive for the November election.

The meeting for the Kennedy campaign was the first of 11 regional sessions scheduled.

Chester Sets Lower Budget For $48,029

Decrease Of $8,159 Reflected In Funds Adopted By Council

Tightening its belt for the second straight year, Chester City Council alopted a budget of $48,029 for 1960-61, a decrease of $8,159 from last year, at a special meeting Tuesday night at City Hall.

City receipts are estimated at $29,942, a drop of $8,209 from the amount received last year, leaving $18,187 to be raised by levy. Last year's budget set receipts at $38,051 and levy income at $18,137.

Roy Cashdollar, clerk-treasurer said the city will continue to feel the effects of the elimination of personal property tax on bank deposits. He pointed out the balance in the hands of the sheriff is only $3,370, less than half the amount that was available at the beginning of the last fiscal year.

The city also expects to receive only $2,000 in paving and sewer assessments, Cashdollar pointed out, explaining the receipts couldn't be estimated for the entire year since sewage rates now are awaiting approval of the Public Service Commission. After the rates are approved, the sewage charge will be collected by the Sanitary Board.

With a new fire truck to be paid off in February, receipts from the fire truck levy are estimated at $4,000, a decrease of $3,000 from the amount to be received last year.

The total assessed valuation of city property this year is placed at $5,790,200, an increase of $42,050 over last year.

The tax revenues, with valuation and rates, include:

Class I — Personal property.

Leroy Dock Loses Life In Rail Mishap

Kyle Pridemore Jr. Victim Of Blast In Facility At Midland

Two East Liverpool men died in violent mishaps Tuesday, one in a mill accident and the other when struck by a train.

A 54-year-old Jethro man was killed instantly late yesterday afternoon when struck by a westbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight while walking along the tracks near his home.

Leroy Dock, 725 Leonard St., a part-time janitor at City Hall, was pronounced dead at 6 p. m. at City Hall, about 30 minutes after being struck near the Leonard St. crossing.

Police were told by R. D. Swan, 62, of Crestline, engineer of the diesel freight, that the front of the engine struck Mr. Dock as he stepped off the right side of the track.

The engineer told Patrolman M. L. Fowler he first spotted a man walking in the center of the westbound track as the train rounded a curve in the West End. The man was approximately 150 feet ahead of the train, the engineer said, and he blew his whistle and applied his emergency brake but was unable to halt the train, which he estimated was traveling at 35 miles an hour.

Police said the mishap occurred about 200 feet west of Leonard St. They were notified at 5:37 p.m.

Mr. Dock was born Jan. 5, 1906, in Industry and had lived in East Liverpool most of his life.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ethel Dock; a son, Leonard Dock at home; three brothers, James Dock of East Liverpool and Henry Dock and George Dock, both of Cleveland, and two sisters in Cleveland.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by John Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be in the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church Cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday afternoon and night at the funeral home.

Kyle Pridemore Jr., 23, of 1105½ St. George St., was killed instantly at 8:25 p. m. by an explosion as he shut off the acetylene bell of his machine in the scarfing mill at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The Beaver County coroner's office said Mr. Pridemore died instantly of an extensive puncture wound of the right chest, multiple fractures and massive hemorhage.

The coroner's office said there were apparently no witnesses to the accident and the operator of the machine, William Straight of Calcutta, did not see the explos-

Despite a thief's meanest intentions, Debbie's not going to be the loser.

The Moose Lodge has contributed $154 from its building fund to the "Dollars for Debbie" account to replace a sum stolen early Sunday by a burglar, who also escaped with some $100 in lodge receipts.

which authorized the Board of Control, composed of the mayor and director, to enter into an agreement for the installation of meters for a trial period on certain streets.

A resolution asking Columbiana County commissioners to provide $1,500 to aid with the improvement of city streets was approved. Taggart asked that Buckeye Ave. be included in the list of streets, declaring it receives no consideration.

A request from seven home owners in the Hammond Park addition to connect to the city water system was referred to the water and sewage committee headed by Taggart.

The request indicated the home owners would agree to pay $500 as their share of extending the line. Robinson pointed out a check would have to be made to determine if the 7 were included among the 40 to pay $500 each when plans were drawn to make water available.

Bowling called attention to the need for some property owners to remove weeds from vacant lots. Speaking from the audience, George Hough deplored the lack of civic pride of some citizens, declaring Council should arouse the interest of property owners in seeing that weeds are cut, lawns mowed and sidewalks kept in repair.

Strike To Hit 2 Gas Stations

Supplies for more than 400 service stations in northern Ohio were affected today by a strike of 900 drivers and warehousemen of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio in a dispute over contract terms.

One company - operated station in East Liverpool and another in Wellsville will be affected, according to officials of the firm's bulk station in the River Rd.

Privately - operated outlets may be able to obtain their supplies from other districts, such as Canton, where drivers are not on strike.

The walkout started at 12:30 a.m., a half-hour after the original deadline, when John H. Garver, attorney for the Independent Petroleum Workers Union, came out of a conference at Cleveland with Sohio representatives and federal conciliators and said: Let's go boys, we're on strike."

The union said picket lines would be established at the service stations as soon as possible.

Drivers involved are in the Youngstown, Akron and Cleveland districts.

The union's demand for a contract with a union shop clause is the principal issue in dispute. Such a clause would provide that all new employes must join the IPW within 30 days.

A 6 per cent increase in wages and hospitalization insurance also are sought by the union. The present wage scale was not announced.

We are against the union shop as a matter of principle," Sohio spokesmen said.

They said that attempts would be made to keep on supplying customers with gasoline, but could not say how long supplies in the stations would last.

Sohio reportedly offered a wage increase of 8 cents an hour. That is 4 to 8 cents less than the union asks.

However, Tshombe said he would welcome the arrival of U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, being sent by Hammarskjold to Elisabethville Friday to arrange the entry of the U.N. troops. The Premier said he wanted to discuss his government's position with Bunche.

The U.N. announcement stunned the white population of Elisabethville, which had returned to normal pursuits under the protection of Belgian troops. But despite earlier talk of a mass flight when U.N. troops were ordered in, there was no sign of any exodus.

Mass departure of the 15,000 Belgian civilians in Katanga would bring a quick shutdown of the province's copper and uranium mines, the Congo's economic mainstay, and would bring Katanga to the same state of economic paralysis now afflicting the rest of the country.

Hammarskjold had announced he was sending Bunche to Elisabethville for "initial talks on the withdrawal of Belgian troops to their bases as the first step toward complete execution of the Security Council resolutions so far as Katanga is concerned."

U.N. Uses Its Police Force

The most massive effort to preserve peace since its founding in 1945 is being made by the United Nations in the Republic of Congo.

There is coming into existence for the Congo crisis another segment of what never has been agreed on as a recognized part of the United Nations—an international police force. Its nucleus was drawn from the U.N. troops which took over in the Suez area in 1956, after withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces.

In less than a fortnight, the Congo force was expanded to 12,000 men, from 14 nations. Even at that size, it is less than a fourth the size of the U.N. command in Korea, overwhelmingly drawn from the United States.

In the face of U.N. responsibility in Korea, the Republic of Congo and Egypt, the organization's critics now are in the awkward position of having to explain that they would substitute for U. N. responsibility if it didn't exist.

Perhaps they never will admit to themselves what Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. admitted when he came home after World War II—that an international organization to keep the peace is indispensable in theory and in fact. Until then, Lodge had not been sold on cooperative security.

The U.N.'s weakness has been its lack of enforcement. Although the U.N. Charter contemplates a permanent armed force, the expedient practice has been to assemble temporary forces for emergencies.

What is in sight now is a "permanent temporary" force, built the same way as the new Congo force—on the core of a smaller "permanent temporary" force.

This would be an easy way out. The force could be composed of troops from small nations, to offset resentment of their presence in other small nations. They could be kept in existence indefinitely without resolving any of the formidable issues that block agreement among the major powers on a permanent armed force for the United Nations.

No one now can foresee a time when U.N. forces will not be needed somewhere in the world to restore order. There is no end in sight for the world's troubles.

If it were to serve no other purpose, the U.N. "temporary permanent" force would be a buffer between the clashing interests of great powers. In practice, it has served an even greater purpose by protecting weak nations from the power plays of the strong ones—a police force keeping internal order in the United Nations as well as enforcing external order in the world.

County Political Pot Begins To Boil

The presidential campaign promises to be one of the most intense and interesting in recent years.

And party leaders in the "grass roots" are wasting little time falling in line with the energetic approach of the two top candidates — Vice President Nixon and Sen. Kennedy.

Both parties in Columbiana County are getting on the political ball early, with some organizational meetings already conducted and others on tap. This is the time for "Mr. Average Voter" to join in. Become an important part of the party of your choice and offer your services where best needed.

Don't sit on the sidelines — as so often happens — while George does it and then give George a verbal kick in the pants later if things don't go as you thought they should. Seek out your city and county chairmen and ask what you can do to help.

From all indications, the election will be a close one and each side will need the fullest support of every available voter — not only at the polls but in the weeks before the final test.

Political parties are a true reflection of the democratic way of life only in proportion to the people who play an active part in their programs. This year more than ever Columbiana County voters should get behind their tickets — from president on down.

Critical decisions must be made Nov. 8.

Not The First Standoff

This week, there will be another review of the fateful decision to drop the A-bomb on Hiroshima. Aug. 6 is the 15th anniversary of the "shock heard 'round the world."

Every judgment made since 1945 has been academic. The decision President Truman made was immediate and urgent; he could not indulge in hair-splitting, nor could he peer into the future any further than his responsibility as commander-in-chief of the armed forces would let him look.

His duty was to defeat Japan as quickly as possible with the weapons at hand. Hence, the decision to drop the first A-bomb on Hiroshima and the second on Nagasaki.

There was room for decision about the target, but not about the use of the weapon. Henry L. Stimson's still unpublished diary is reported to say that Kyoto, ancient cultural center of Japan, was set aside as first target choice by the argument that its destruction would be unforgivable, whereas industrial cities like Hiroshima and Nagasaki could be rebuilt as functional manufacturing centers.

No one in America ever has dared to hope the Japanese people would forgive the annihilation of so many of their countrymen that the count still is uncertain—59,853 at Hiroshima and 73,884 at Nagasaki known to have died and as many as 200,000 others unaccounted for or who died later.

This is something Americans have preferred to shut out of their minds; they do not want to think about the depth and breadth of Japanese feeling against their country. It has been more pleasant to dwell on the evidence that Japan has been cooperating with the United States and that even its Tokyo riots were manufactured by Communists, with no assistance by the Japanese, themselves.

No common decision ever has been reached on the incident at Hiroshima. No common decision can be reached, because the divergent elements in post-war opinions are irreconcilable. President Truman did what he had to do in the circumstances. Those who wish the circumstances had been different and refuse to recognize them as they were in 1945 are begging the question.

They are judging from an assumption that never existed and never could have existed in the mind of the commander-in-chief at the climax of a costly war against a resolute foe.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

If Jack Kennedy wins the presidency, the White House will find more children romping around than at any time since Teddy Roosevelt, when it was said there were ponies and pony-carts in corridors. Kennedy family keynote is "togetherness," and Bob Kennedy alone has close to a dozen kids. Longfellow's "Children's Hour" could be revised:

Between the dark and the daylight
When the night is beginning to lower,
Come a break in the White House proceedings
That is known as the children's hour.

II

I hear in the halls of the building
The patter of little feet
And the merry cries of the kiddies,
"This place has our Boston beat."

III

A "whooshing" noise on the stairway. . .
The bannisters swing and sway
As the children ride them swiftly
And drive global cares away.

IV

They swarm from the famous Blue Room;
Around Lincoln's bed they race;
They prance under famous portraits
Unmoved by each solemn face.

V

The White House rocks to their antics
Recalling the days gone by;
(Jack cries from his cellar refuge
"I can't find peace BUT CAN TRY.")

CHICAGO MEDICAL ASSN. says doctors are charging patients for phone calls. If we get such a bill we intend to file a counter claim for time lost trying to get him. Patient can bring on a relapse striving to get the nurse, secretary or other outer-guard on the phone. Competent doctors are so surrounded by personel that it is a trick to establish contact even by radar. Sample routine:

Patient—Hello and it's nice to know somebody has answered. I wish to speak to the doctor.

Nurse—Who doesn't? He's very busy. Unless it's an emergency you'll have to see him by appointment.

Patient—I saw him by appointment but the druggist can't read the prescription and I want the doctor to spell it for me.

Nurse—This is not the doctor's day for spelling.

Patient—Can I reach him by walkie-talkie?

Nurse—I think not. May I take the message?

Patient—Just tell him that I was feeling better but the strain of trying to get him by phone has brought on a RELAPSE.

HIPPOCRATIC OATH should have this paragraph: "I swear not to apply business methods to phone calls when a patient wants to ask if he should continue with the $1 pills or switch to the 60-cent type. As a modern physician I am overworked, overburdened and up to my neck in worries and in worse shape than some of my patients, but I pledge myself to realize the patient and I both may be in such bad shape jointly that a phone chat can do us good."

The President has named October 5th National Prayer Week. What this country and world needs is a National Prayer Year.

The combination old time vaudeville, prowrestling shows and oratorical clambakes, otherwise known as party conventions, are memories. They set back Pay-TV for years and hurt it for free. Campaign slogans are now in season. For the GOP we suggest "Forget New Frontiers; We Have "Westerns" Enough." "Stick With Dick or Get Stuck With Jack." "Keep The White House Safe With a White House Dick." "I Like Ike's First Baseman." "Don't Short-Change Yourself Following in Belief It's Time for a Change."

For the Democrats how about these: "The Army Has Had It: Let's Try the Navy." "Jack Was Nearly Down in the Pacific; the Potomac Should Be Easy." "Kennedy Enny Day." "Have You Been Reading Golf Scores More and Enjoying Them Less?" "Ike Crossed Channel; Jack Nearly Had to Swim Pacific Ocean." "Vote For Jack and Get the White House Out of Fairway." "It's Time for New Faces and Lower Hair Lines."

Some of our more ardent Demmies suggest, "This is First Hole on a New 18-Hole Course." "Substitute Short Cuts for Long Putts." and even "Throw the Golfbags out."

August is here
It brings me smiles:
Gone are those cries

'Lessons From The Steel Strike'

By Victor Riesel

Many people, it seems, have forgotten the steel strike. Six months later, Victor Riesel asked Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, what impact it has had. This is his reply.

By ROGER BLOUGH

"When Victor Riesel asked me to featherbed" for him — as he put it — and do this column on "The Lessons of the Steel Strike," it seemed only fair to comply. After all, some of the most interesting things we learned about that strike came from him and from other famous column-writing pros.

For example, in the early days of the negotiations, we were informed that there would be no steel strike at all. Later on, we were assured that the strike would last no longer than six weeks or two months at most, and that a steel price hike would follow immediately in the wake of any settlement finally achieved.

For all of this invaluable information, of course, we were deeply grateful to these gentlemen; and it is in partial payment of our debt to them that I now find myself pushing this labored pencil while Mr. Riesel yields happily to the siren song of far-away places. The simple little chore he has left with me is to compress all the lessons of the late lamented steel strike into a few hundred well-chosen words.

That task would clearly be simpler were it not for the fact that different people, with differing points of view and varying interests in the outcome, have undoubtedly gleaned widely divergent lessons from the prolonged steel controversy.

SO FAR AS THE STEEL companies are concerned, I can speak with all the assurance to which an amateur columnist is entitled; but in discussing the lessons which may have been learned by other people and other groups, I can only follow the example of my professional brothers-in-writing and speculate freely. The perceptive reader, therefore, will wisely construe these speculative efforts more as an expression of hope than as a revelation of gospel.

That being understood, it seems to me that the lessons of the steel strike might be summarized this way:

A lesson learned by the steel companies is that they must keep trying but have not yet learned how to achieve a wholly non-inflationary labor agreement in so-called free collective bargaining, whether or not the government intervenes.

Experience shows that such resources as the companies have thus far been able to command have been unequal to the power and influence arrayed against them in negotiations.

A LESSON for thoughtful political leaders might be that with power on opposite sides of the bargaining table divided as unequally as it now is, not even the strength and prestige of the highest government officials seem to prevail against the tide of wage-push inflation that inches irresistibly on.

A lesson for the union leadership would be, hopefully, that no agreement which weakens the competitive position of the companies, or which bars the adoption of a better, easier and less-expensive way of doing work, can ever promote the job security or the long-range economic welfare of the union membership.

And a lesson for union members may be that, loyal as they are—and should be — to their union, they are a vital part of a productive team which includes themselves, management and owners; and that they cannot injure the work of that team without injuring the whole enterprise — themselves included.

FORTUNATELY, such lessons as these are becoming clearer to all of us, I believe, and the new labor agreements provide the mechanism through which these lessons can be translated into action, progress and industrial peace.

This mechanism consists of two joint union - company committees set up to tackle the thorny problems that have caused much of the dissension from which the steel industry has suffered in the past 20 years.

With understanding and patience, there is real hope that these committees will discover one universal lesson of the steel strike: That the national interest, the customers' interest, the union members' interest and the companies' interest are indivisible . . . that there can be no lasting benefit for one unless there is true benefit for all.

And to that real hope, I firmly hold.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I have news for both political parties. The younger son in our family has been watching; his first vote will be cast this year. He finds their tribal rites more puzzling than provocative and wonders why they don't bring their procedures into line with the times.

It would help those concerned in the Jimmy Piersall situation to go back to descriptions of his antics the other time he became the most "controversial" player in the American League, for possible clues to what is causing him to be conspicuous this time.

During iced tea season, which is July and August for most of us, I think with admiration of the one strong individual of my acquaintance who hits the stuff the year around and causes commotions in restaurants by ordering iced tea in midwinter.

My proposal for getting rid of the problem of juvenile delinquency is to measure delinquency as a percentage of all youths, thus making it clear to one and all there is nothing to worry about unless the percentage shows a sharp rise in a short period.

Apropos of a couple jailed in Cincinnati for a traffic mishap while kissing, it is my opinion this sort of thing never was carried on more boldly than now, though huge rear windows in cars merely may be making it easier to see than it used to be. Makes you want to lean out and yell, "Pull down the shade!"

Quack medicine, says my dictionary, is something that purports to cure but has no curative power. Quack doctors are people who purport to cure without any ability to cure. And by the same token, quack politics and politicians pretend to fix things they cannot fix and which may not even need fixing in the first place.

By this time each summer, I think it will be too soon if I never see another female in shorts on the street. In fact, by this time each summer I have concluded that when I become dictator all females over the age of 10 will be stood in a pillory 10 miles from nowhere if found on the street in shorts.

All of us have a few memories that are especially strong, and one of my strongest is the olfactory memory of what a pair of new shoulder pads issued at the beginning of football season smelled like when put on for the first time.

In the likelihood that you were curious, too, after seeing Mamie Eisenhower at her best in the Republican convention pictures, the First Lady will be 64 years old next Nov. 14—and how are the rest of you 63-year-old ladies doing.

If no one ever thought of this phrase before, I relinquish all personal rights in its invention while listening to someone speculate about the moral issue in shortening the death throes of incurables: Economic Euthanasia. This is what compulsory retirement does to human beings who otherwise would have been permitted to work out their final days, yet no one talks about the moral issue in this.

Another thing about driving a small car that looms larger as time goes on is that it makes larger cars seem not only unwieldly but unsafe, which raises this question: Is it not true that drivers of small cars are involved in fewer accidents proportionately than drivers of large cars?

Congo Calamity

By David Lawrence

Why Are The 'Liberals' So Quiet?

Something terrible has been happening in the Congo these last few weeks, but, for some unexplained reason, the voices of the so-called liberals" and their organizations are strangely silent, not only here but in Europe. Just a few months ago they cried out indignantly because a few Bantus were killed when thousands of them surrounded and threatened a handful of panic-stricken police in a South African village, who then fired in self-defense.

David Lawrence

The parliaments of Europe discussed that issue, and even the United Nations was drawn into the debate. But why, when white women are attacked and a shameful orgy is perpetrated in the Congo, is nothing being said officially and publicly by any government in denunciation of such conduct?

Not even the leaders of the British Parliament, which had an extensive debate on the South African episode, have put themselves on record with any declaration on the subject.

THE PRIME MINISTER of the Congo, calls it all a lot of "fabrications" in the foreign press. Yet the facts have been officially reported. A United Press International dispatch a few days ago gave American Ambassador Timberlake as the source of the information that two American women missionaries were raped repeatedly and another U. S. missionary was said to have been slain."

David Reed, a member of the Washington staff of U.S. News & World Report," who has been in the Congo for several weeks, cabled a full report, published recently, which said in part:

The full horror of the mutiny of black troops in the Congolese army is only now coming to light. . . .

A Belgian doctor and his wife, who is also a doctor, report that they gave injections of penicillin to between 350 and 400 white women who had been raped by soldiers and who feared they might have contracted syphilis. The two doctors say they treated so many rape victims that they lost count of the total. Among their emergency patients were a mother and her two daughters, one 11 and the other 8 years old. All three had been raped repeatedly during a period of 24 hours.

A French doctor said he examined two Belgian women, wives of Belgian officials. Both of the women had been raped by 12 soldiers in the town of Kisantu.

AMONG OTHER VICTIMS were two American women at a Baptist mission. One was the wife of the missionary and the other an unmarried nurse. They were flown out of the Congo in a U.S. military helicopter.

It is entirely likely that no one will ever know how many white women were violated by the troops, as the turmoil was so great. Belgians and other whites were pouring out of the Congo by the thousands. Women who were treated by doctors were flown out to safety as soon as possible. There is a feeling that many of the women were so stunned and humiliated by what happened that they did not tell anybody — even their husbands or the doctors."

There was a time in American history when, if American citizens were maltreated, sharp measures of reprisal would have been undertaken promptly by the government of the United States. But these are strange times. The demands for recognition of nationalist" causes and the insistence that independence be granted to uncivilized peoples seem to take precedence over all else.

Thus, in South Africa the blacks far outnumber the whites. The movements of the members of the savage tribes are watched through a "pass" system. The blacks are required to live in separate sections of the cities or in "reservation" areas. This is known as "apartheid." The real issue now is whether the whites will survive.

The efforts of the whites in South Africa to maintain an orderly system of government are being thwarted by boycotts begun by other countries where black or dark races predominate. These boycotts are hurting all races and producing large-scale unemployment.

GHANA AND MALAYA are the two countries which are leading the boycott movement. This form of economic warfare is being encouraged by whites and white organizations in Europe which know very little about the conditions in South Africa. As one writer in Cape Town puts it:

"It isn't as if we were dealing with Europeans who happen to have black skins. We are face to face with millions of blacks who have not emerged from a state of savagery."

Another letter, from a man who until recently was editor-in-chief of a daily newspaper in Johannesburg, South Africa, says:

"Boycotts and other forms of harmful interference can only tap our not-too-plentiful resources, retard development, and injure the interests of the very non-whites who are pitied as the "underdogs."

Dillon: Nixon's Choice?

By John Scali

WASHINGTON

Douglas Dillon, 50, a fellow who talks tough to the Soviet Union, but softly to Congress, seems to be the backstage favorite for the job of secretary of state—if Vice President Richard M. Nixon is elected president.

Neither Nixon, the Republican standard bearer, nor Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, have given solid clues on choices for the top cabinet post. But Kennedy has two leading prospects in Chester Bowles and Adlai E. Stevenson, his foreign policy advisors.

Nixon could always turn to some dark horse candidate as his selection. But lately in Republican circles, the name of Dillon, the State Department's No. 2 man, has been bobbing up in informal surveys.

Dillon, a millionaire former investment banker, is mentioned more frequently than former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey who might be available as Nixon's foreign policy chief, if asked.

Dillon assets are readily apparent. He would be far less controversial than Dewey who has voiced some biting criticism of Democrats. For 7½ years Dillon has worked in the State Department's top echelon handling many of the tough international problems that will continue to plague the nation in the 1960s.

A third important reason could be the increasingly close Nixon-Dillon friendship that has developed in the past few months. Dillon's aides confirm that the two men have met frequently and sometimes talked twice daily on the phone.

All these talks were objective discussions of foreign policy problems, they say, without any move by Dillon to provide Nixon with campaign ammunition to shoot at the Democrats.

Dillon is known, however, to be delighted with the stress Nixon put on foreign aid and long-term help to underdeveloped countries in his speech accepting the nomination for the presidency.

Dillon's views perhaps were also visible in Nixon's belated pledge to seek to step up the nation's rate of economic growth in order to keep ahead of the Soviet Union's mounting industrial drive.

For two years, Dillon was the lone administration voice publicly advocating this, at a time when such suggestions came mainly from the Democrats and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Dillon's readiness to champion liberal economic-trade policies, many of them conceived under Democratic administrations, helps explain his popularity with Democrats.

But his main appeal is his low key no-nonsense approach to questions asked him at hearings. He gives congressmen a maximum of information and a minimum of diplomatic doubletalk. He backs up his replies with detailed statistics, facts, and figures.

Odd Facts

World literacy, according to a recent U.N. report, runs 1 to 2 per cent in all western European nations except Italy, Spain and France. Canada has 2 to 3 per cent and the United States 2 to 5 per cent. Although Russia claims to be completely literate, the report shows that 5 to 10 per cent of Russians are illiterate.

Horsethief Basin, once a hideout for outlaws in the Arizona mountains, is now one of the state's most popular picnic resorts.

U.N. Uses Its Police Force

The most massive effort to preserve peace since its founding in 1945 is being made by the United Nations in the Republic of Congo.

There is coming into existence for the Congo crisis another segment of what never has been agreed on as a recognized part of the United Nations—an international police force. Its nucleus was drawn from the U.N. troops which took over in the Suez area in 1956, after withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces.

In less than a fortnight, the Congo force was expanded to 12,000 men, from 14 nations. Even at that size, it is less than a fourth the size of the U.N. command in Korea, overwhelmingly drawn from the United States.

In the face of U.N. responsibility in Korea, the Republic of Congo and Egypt, the organization's critics now are in the awkward position of having to explain that they would substitute for U. N. responsibility if it didn't exist.

Perhaps they never will admit to themselves what Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. admitted when he came home after World War II—that an international organization to keep the peace is indispensable in theory and in fact. Until then, Lodge had not been sold on cooperative security.

The U.N.'s weakness has been its lack of enforcement. Although the U.N. Charter contemplates a permanent armed force, the expedient practice has been to assemble temporary forces for emergencies.

What is in sight now is a "permanent temporary" force, built the same way as the new Congo force—on the core of a smaller "permanent temporary" force.

This would be an easy way out. The force could be composed of troops from small nations, to offset resentment of their presence in other small nations. They could be kept in existence indefinitely without resolving any of the formidable issues that block agreement among the major powers on a permanent armed force for the United Nations.

No one now can foresee a time when U.N. forces will not be needed somewhere in the world to restore order. There is no end in sight for the world's troubles.

If it were to serve no other purpose, the U.N. "temporary permanent" force would be a buffer between the clashing interests of great powers. In practice, it has served an even greater purpose by protecting weak nations from the power plays of the strong ones—a police force keeping internal order in the United Nations as well as enforcing external order in the world.

County Political Pot Begins To Boil

The presidential campaign promises to be one of the most intense and interesting in recent years.

And party leaders in the "grass roots" are wasting little time falling in line with the energetic approach of the two top candidates — Vice President Nixon and Sen. Kennedy.

Both parties in Columbiana County are getting on the political ball early, with some organizational meetings already conducted and others on tap. This is the time for "Mr. Average Voter" to join in. Become an important part of the party of your choice and offer your services where best needed.

Don't sit on the sidelines — as so often happens — while George does it and then give George a verbal kick in the pants later if things don't go as you thought they should. Seek out your city and county chairmen and ask what you can do to help.

From all indications, the election will be a close one and each side will need the fullest support of every available voter — not only at the polls but in the weeks before the final test.

Political parties are a true reflection of the democratic way of life only in proportion to the people who play an active part in their programs. This year more than ever Columbiana County voters should get behind their tickets — from president on down.

Critical decisions must be made Nov. 8.

Not The First Standoff

This week, there will be another review of the fateful decision to drop the A-bomb on Hiroshima. Aug. 6 is the 15th anniversary of the "shock heard 'round the world."

Every judgment made since 1945 has been academic. The decision President Truman made was immediate and urgent; he could not indulge in hair-splitting, nor could he peer into the future any further than his responsibility as commander-in-chief of the armed forces would let him look.

His duty was to defeat Japan as quickly as possible with the weapons at hand. Hence, the decision to drop the first A-bomb on Hiroshima and the second on Nagasaki.

There was room for decision about the target, but not about the use of the weapon. Henry L. Stimson's still unpublished diary is reported to say that Kyoto, ancient cultural center of Japan, was set aside as first target choice by the argument that its destruction would be unforgivable, whereas industrial cities like Hiroshima and Nagasaki could be rebuilt as functional manufacturing centers.

No one in America ever has dared to hope the Japanese people would forgive the annihilation of so many of their countrymen that the count still is uncertain—59,853 at Hiroshima and 73,884 at Nagasaki known to have died and as many as 200,000 others unaccounted for or who died later.

This is something Americans have preferred to shut out of their minds; they do not want to think about the depth and breadth of Japanese feeling against their country. It has been more pleasant to dwell on the evidence that Japan has been cooperating with the United States and that even its Tokyo riots were manufactured by Communists, with no assistance by the Japanese, themselves.

No common decision ever has been reached on the incident at Hiroshima. No common decision can be reached, because the divergent elements in post-war opinions are irreconcilable. President Truman did what he had to do in the circumstances. Those who wish the circumstances had been different and refuse to recognize them as they were in 1945 are begging the question.

They are judging from an assumption that never existed and never could have existed in the mind of the commander-in-chief at the climax of a costly war against a resolute foe.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

If Jack Kennedy wins the presidency, the White House will find more children romping around than at any time since Teddy Roosevelt, when it was said there were ponies and pony-carts in corridors. Kennedy family keynote is "togetherness," and Bob Kennedy alone has close to a dozen kids. Longfellow's "Children's Hour" could be revised:

Between the dark and the daylight
When the night is beginning to lower,
Come a break in the White House proceedings
That is known as the children's hour.

II

I hear in the halls of the building
The patter of little feet
And the merry cries of the kiddies,
"This place has our Boston beat."

III

A "whooshing" noise on the stairway. . .
The bannisters swing and sway
As the children ride them swiftly
And drive global cares away.

IV

They swarm from the famous Blue Room;
Around Lincoln's bed they race;
They prance under famous portraits
Unmoved by each solemn face.

V

The White House rocks to their antics
Recalling the days gone by;
(Jack cries from his cellar refuge
"I can't find peace BUT CAN TRY.")

CHICAGO MEDICAL ASSN. says doctors are charging patients for phone calls. If we get such a bill we intend to file a counter claim for time lost trying to get him. Patient can bring on a relapse striving to get the nurse, secretary or other outer-guard on the phone. Competent doctors are so surrounded by personel that it is a trick to establish contact even by radar. Sample routine:

Patient—Hello and it's nice to know somebody has answered. I wish to speak to the doctor.

Nurse—Who doesn't? He's very busy. Unless it's an emergency you'll have to see him by appointment.

Patient—I saw him by appointment but the druggist can't read the prescription and I want the doctor to spell it for me.

Nurse—This is not the doctor's day for spelling.

Patient—Can I reach him by walkie-talkie?

Nurse—I think not. May I take the message?

Patient—Just tell him that I was feeling better but the strain of trying to get him by phone has brought on a RELAPSE.

HIPPOCRATIC OATH should have this paragraph: "I swear not to apply business methods to phone calls when a patient wants to ask if he should continue with the $1 pills or switch to the 60-cent type. As a modern physician I am overworked, overburdened and up to my neck in worries and in worse shape than some of my patients, but I pledge myself to realize the patient and I both may be in such bad shape jointly that a phone chat can do us good."

The President has named October 5th National Prayer Week. What this country and world needs is a National Prayer Year.

The combination old time vaudeville, prowrestling shows and oratorical clambakes, otherwise known as party conventions, are memories. They set back Pay-TV for years and hurt it for free. Campaign slogans are now in season. For the GOP we suggest "Forget New Frontiers; We Have "Westerns" Enough." "Stick With Dick or Get Stuck With Jack." "Keep The White House Safe With a White House Dick." "I Like Ike's First Baseman." "Don't Short-Change Yourself Following in Belief It's Time for a Change."

For the Democrats how about these: "The Army Has Had It: Let's Try the Navy." "Jack Was Nearly Down in the Pacific; the Potomac Should Be Easy." "Kennedy Enny Day." "Have You Been Reading Golf Scores More and Enjoying Them Less?" "Ike Crossed Channel; Jack Nearly Had to Swim Pacific Ocean." "Vote For Jack and Get the White House Out of Fairway." "It's Time for New Faces and Lower Hair Lines."

Some of our more ardent Demmies suggest, "This is First Hole on a New 18-Hole Course." "Substitute Short Cuts for Long Putts." and even "Throw the Golfbags out."

'Lessons From The Steel Strike'

By Victor Riesel

Many people, it seems, have forgotten the steel strike. Six months later, Victor Riesel asked Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, what impact it has had. This is his reply.

By ROGER BLOUGH

"When Victor Riesel asked me to featherbed" for him — as he put it — and do this column on "The Lessons of the Steel Strike," it seemed only fair to comply. After all, some of the most interesting things we learned about that strike came from him and from other famous column-writing pros.

For example, in the early days of the negotiations, we were informed that there would be no steel strike at all. Later on, we were assured that the strike would last no longer than six weeks or two months at most, and that a steel price hike would follow immediately in the wake of any settlement finally achieved.

For all of this invaluable information, of course, we were deeply grateful to these gentlemen; and it is in partial payment of our debt to them that I now find myself pushing this labored pencil while Mr. Riesel yields happily to the siren song of far-away places. The simple little chore he has left with me is to compress all the lessons of the late lamented steel strike into a few hundred well-chosen words.

That task would clearly be simpler were it not for the fact that different people, with differing points of view and varying interests in the outcome, have undoubtedly gleaned widely diverbergent lessons from the prolonged steel controversy.

SO FAR AS THE STEEL companies are concerned, I can speak with all the assurance to which an amateur columnist is entitled; but in discussing the lessons which may have been learned by other people and other groups, I can only follow the example of my professional brothers-in-writing and speculate freely. The perceptive reader, therefore, will wisely construe these speculative efforts more as an expression of hope than as a revelation of gospel.

That being understood, it seems to me that the lessons of the steel strike might be summarized this way:

A lesson learned by the steel companies is that they must keep trying but have not yet learned how to achieve a wholly non-inflationary labor agreement in so-called free collective bargaining, whether or not the government intervenes.

Experience shows that such resources as the companies have thus far been able to command have been unequal to the power and influence arrayed against them in negotiations.

A LESSON for thoughtful political leaders might be that with power on opposite sides of the bargaining table divided as unequally as it now is, not even the strength and prestige of the highest government officials seem to prevail against the tide of wage-push inflation that inches irresistibly on.

A lesson for the union leadership would be, hopefully, that no agreement which weakens the competitive position of the companies, or which bars the adoption of a better, easier and less-expensive way of doing work, can ever promote the job security or the long-range economic welfare of the union membership.

And a lesson for union members may be that, loyal as they are—and should be — to their union, they are a vital part of a productive team which includes themselves, management and owners; and that they cannot injure the work of that team without injuring the whole enterprise — themselves included.

FORTUNATELY, such lessons as these are becoming clearer to all of us, I believe, and the new labor agreements provide the mechanism through which these lessons can be translated into action, progress and industrial peace.

This mechanism consists of two joint union - company committees set up to tackle the thorny problems that have caused much of the dissension from which the steel industry has suffered in the past 20 years.

With understanding and patience, there is real hope that these committees will discover one universal lesson of the steel strike: That the national interest, the customers' interest, the union members' interest and the companies' interest are indivisible . . . that there can be no lasting benefit for one unless there is true benefit for all.

And to that real hope, I firmly hold.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I have news for both political parties. The younger son in our family has been watching; his first vote will be cast this year. He finds their tribal rites more puzzling than provocative and wonders why they don't bring their procedures into line with the times.

It would help those concerned in the Jimmy Piersall situation to go back to descriptions of his antics the other time he became the most "controversial" player in the American League, for possible clues to what is causing him to be conspicuous this time.

During iced tea season, which is July and August for most of us, I think with admiration of the one strong individual of my acquaintance who hits the stuff the year around and causes commotions in restaurants by ordering iced tea in midwinter.

My proposal for getting rid of the problem of juvenile delinquency is to measure delinquency as a percentage of all youths, thus making it clear to one and all there is nothing to worry about unless the percentage shows a sharp rise in a short period.

Apropos of a couple jailed in Cincinnati for a traffic mishap while kissing, it is my opinion this sort of thing never was carried on more boldly than now, though huge rear windows in cars merely may be making it easier to see than it used to be. Makes you want to lean out and yell, "Pull down the shade!"

Quack medicine, says my dictionary, is something that purports to cure but has no curative power. Quack doctors are people who purport to cure without any ability to cure. And by the same token, quack politics and politicians pretend to fix things they cannot fix and which may not even need fixing in the first place.

By this time each summer, I think it will be too soon if I never see another female in shorts on the street. In fact, by this time each summer I have concluded that when I become dictator all females over the age of 10 will be stood in a pillory 10 miles from nowhere if found on the street in shorts.

All of us have a few memories that are especially strong, and one of my strongest is the olfactory memory of what a pair of new shoulder pads issued at the beginning of football season smelled like when put on for the first time.

In the likelihood that you were curious, too, after seeing Mamie Eisenhower at her best in the Republican convention pictures, the First Lady will be 64 years old next Nov. 14—and how are the rest of you 63-year-old ladies doing.

If no one ever thought of this phrase before, I relinquish all personal rights in its invention while listening to someone speculate about the moral issue in shortening the death throes of incurables: Economic Euthanasia. This is what compulsory retirement does to human beings who otherwise would have been permitted to work out their final days, yet no one talks about the moral issue in this.

Another thing about driving a small car that looms larger as time goes on is that it makes larger cars seem not only unwieldly but unsafe, which raises this question: Is it not true that drivers of small cars are involved in fewer accidents proportionately than drivers of large cars?

Congo Calamity

By David Lawrence

Why Are The 'Liberals' So Quiet?

Something terrible has been happening in the Congo these last few weeks, but, for some unexplained reason, the voices of the so-called liberals" and their organizations are strangely silent, not only here but in Europe. Just a few months ago they cried out indignantly because a few Bantus were killed when thousands of them surrounded and threatened a handful of panic-stricken police in a South African village, who then fired in self-defense.

David Lawrence

The parliaments of Europe discussed that issue, and even the United Nations was drawn into the debate. But why, when white women are attacked and a shameful orgy is perpetrated in the Congo, is nothing being said officially and publicly by any government in denunciation of such conduct?

Not even the leaders of the British Parliament, which had an extensive debate on the South African episode, have put themselves on record with any declaration on the subject.

THE PRIME MINISTER of the Congo, calls it all a lot of "fabrications" in the foreign press. Yet the facts have been officially reported. A United Press International dispatch a few days ago gave American Ambassador Timberlake as the source of the information that two American women missionaries were raped repeatedly and another U. S. missionary was said to have been slain."

David Reed, a member of the Washington staff of U.S. News & World Report," who has been in the Congo for several weeks, cabled a full report, published recently, which said in part:

The full horror of the mutiny of black troops in the Congolese army is only now coming to light. . . .

A Belgian doctor and his wife, who is also a doctor, report that they gave injections of penicillin to between 350 and 400 white women who had been raped by soldiers and who feared they might have contracted syphilis. The two doctors say they treated so many rape victims that they lost count of the total. Among their emergency patients were a mother and her two daughters, one 11 and the other 8 years old. All three had been raped repeatedly during a period of 24 hours.

A French doctor said he examined two Belgian women, wives of Belgian officials. Both of the women had been raped by 12 soldiers in the town of Kisantu.

AMONG OTHER VICTIMS were two American women at a Baptist mission. One was the wife of the missionary and the other an unmarried nurse. They were flown out of the Congo in a U.S. military helicopter.

It is entirely likely that no one will ever know how many white women were violated by the troops, as the turmoil was so great. Belgians and other whites were pouring out of the Congo by the thousands. Women who were treated by doctors were flown out to safety as soon as possible. There is a feeling that many of the women were so stunned and humiliated by what happened that they did not tell anybody — even their husbands or the doctors."

There was a time in American history when, if American citizens were maltreated, sharp measures of reprisal would have been undertaken promptly by the government of the United States. But these are strange times. The demands for recognition of nationalist" causes and the insistence that independence be granted to uncivilized peoples seem to take precedence over all else.

Thus, in South Africa the blacks far outnumber the whites. The movements of the members of the savage tribes are watched through a "pass" system. The blacks are required to live in separate sections of the cities or in "reservation" areas. This is known as "apartheid." The real issue now is whether the whites will survive.

The efforts of the whites in South Africa to maintain an orderly system of government are being thwarted by boycotts begun by other countries where black or dark races predominate. These boycotts are hurting all races and producing large-scale unemployment.

GHANA AND MALAYA are the two countries which are leading the boycott movement. This form of economic warfare is being encouraged by whites and white organizations in Europe which know very little about the conditions in South Africa. As one writer in Cape Town puts it:

"It isn't as if we were dealing with Europeans who happen to have black skins. We are face to face with millions of blacks who have not emerged from a state of savagery."

Another letter, from a man who until recently was editor-in-chief of a daily newspaper in Johannesburg, South Africa, says:

"Boycotts and other forms of harmful interference can only tap our not-too-plentiful resources, retard development, and injure the interests of the very non-whites who are pitied as the "underdogs."

"In point of fact, the white man is the potential underdog in this world of artificial black martyrdom and misdirected sympathy — and this goes for the white man in Europe, America, Australia and New Zealand, no less than for the white in either South Africa or other parts of Africa.

"Make no mistake, white survival is indivisible, and by this I mean the permanent assets and values of Western civilization and democracy, poised as they now are against the overpowering might of Communism and Asian and African nationalism."

Yachting Club Plans Ramp

Plans to install a marine launching ramp at the new docking area of the East Liverpool Yacht Club were outlined at a meeting of the club Tuesday night.

John Falone, commodore, said work on installation of the "marine rail" will be started about the end of September so it can be completed before the Ohio River pool rises with start of work on the third phase of the Stratton super-dam.

The high water will cover some 15 feet of the club's grounds along the river bank, Falone said. The ramp will be about 30 feet long, 20 feet wide and 10 inches thick.

A hoist will be used to lift boats and cradles onto a car on the rail and the car will be run into the river with the boat floating off its cradle. Boats also will be recovered from the river on the rail, he explained.

Falone said the club plans to install a sandy beach and landscape the grounds at Chester in the spring.

Facilities to provide gasoline, oil and fresh water have been installed on the dock with a few spaces for boats still available, he continued. A restroom has been installed in the clubhouse and picnic grounds are available for members.

The membership is not restricted to boat owners, he said.

Fire Fighters Return To Old Familiar Places

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Some 400 men returned to Portland's Skid Row after more than a week of fighting eastern Oregon forest fires. More than a third were in jail today, the morning after.

The fire fighters turned up in their favorite taverns after up to 10 days of eating smoke and drinking water. Some had up to $180 in their pockets. They lined up six deep.

Native Of Lisbon

J. S. Billingsley To End Long Crucible Tenure

John S. Billingsley, assistant to the vice president of sales, at Pittsburgh, will retire from the Crucible Steel Co. after 37 years of service effective at the end of August.

He first joined the company at its New York offices after receiving a master's degree in business and finance from Columbia University. He was an outstanding collegiate athlete, playing football first at Wooster College and later at Columbia.

His collegiate studies were interrupted by military service in World War I. Serving with the 2nd Division in France, he was decorated with the Silver Star for bravery in action and attained the rank of captain with the field artillery.

At Crucible, Billingsley has held various sales positions in Syracuse and Pittsburgh. He was named to his present position in 1957.

His interest in education and young people resulted in his election to alumni trustee at Wooster College in 1938. He is currently a trustee of Denison University, which his three sons attended and where he was recently named "Dad of the Year." He is also active with the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Columbia University Alumni.

He is a member of the American Iron and Steel Institute, the American Society for Metals, the Duquesne Club and the St. Clair Country Club, both in Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Athletic Club and the Columbia University Club of New York City.

J. S. BILLINGSLEY
He'll Retire Late In August.

He is a native of Lisbon and a graduate of Lisbon High School and his father, the late John Clark Billingsley of Lisbon, served as a Columbiana County commissioner.

Billingsley was associated with Crucible's sales force at Syracuse from 1926 to 1930 and his wife, Marian Seiter Billingsley, is a native of Syracuse and a graduate of Syracuse University. She was active in social work in Pittsburgh. They reside in Mt. Lebanon.

Steel Union Sets Pittsburgh Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union has served notice it will strike the Pittsburgh Steel Co. next Sunday in a dispute over incentive wage scales.

The company, 14th largest steel producer in the nation, immediately began an orderly shutdown of its five main plants Tuesday after receiving the union's five day strike notice.

Company and union negotiators have been battling over the incentive wage scale question for months.

The company said its rates have pushed the firm's labor costs 46 cents an hour above the industry average.

A strike would idle some 7,700 workers at Monessen and Allenport, Pa.; Warren and Akron, Ohio; and Worcester, Mass.

Shortly after an agreement was reached in the nationwide steel strike last January, Pittsburgh Steel and the USW established a joint committee to study the possibility of revising the firm's incentive wage scales.

The committee handed down its recommendations on July 5. The company accepted the proposals, but the union rejected them.

Then last week the company notified the USW that it planned to cut back incentive wage rates effective Aug. 7. The union had 60 days in which to decide whether to accept the cutback or go on strike.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic sources say Cuba has sent a 24-page memorandum to the Inter-American Peace Committee accusing the United States of economic aggression and other alleged anti-Cuban actions.

Polaris Moves Closer To Operational Status

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Navy has moved the Polaris a step closer to operational status with another successful firing of one of the submarine rockets.

A Polaris popped from an underground tube Tuesday night and raced more than 1,100 miles down the Caribbean range in a shot termed completely successful by project officials. It was the ninth Polaris launching in four weeks and 28th this year. Twenty of the firings were successful.

The shot followed the successful firing of a Hound Dog missile from a B52G jet bomber and the failure of an Atlas missile to take off on a 7,000-mile flight because of last-second trouble.

Baby And Uncle Killed When Auto Rams Tree

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP)—A four-weeks-old baby and his 18-year-old uncle were killed Tuesday in an automobile accident at Higginsport.

The victims were James F. Gould of Wadena, Minn., and the baby, Lance David Horn.

The infant's mother, Mrs. Sharon Horn, 17, also of Wadena, was injured. She is a sister of Gould.

The three were en route to Ft. Bragg, N. C., where Mrs. Horn's husband, John, is stationed. Higginsport Police Chief Arnold Hines said the car hit a tree, overturned and wedged against a stone wall. He expressed belief Gould fell asleep at the wheel.

Lettuce, while believed to be native to the East Indies, has been cultivated since ancient times. And nowhere is it known in the wild state.

Upset Marks Michigan Vote

By The Associated Press

Primary contests for congressional and local offices captured the political spotlight in three states Tuesday.

In Michigan, the Democratic race for a party choice to succeed G. Mennen Williams as governor featured an upset by Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson.

Swainson, 35, a legless Detroit attorney, beat out Secretary of State James M. Hare and Detroit Councilman Ed Connor. Williams has declined renomination after serving six two-year terms.

Paul D. Bagwell, 46, a Michigan State University faculty member, ran unopposed in the Republican balloting for governor.

In the GOP contest for the U.S. Senate nomination, U. S. Rep. Alvin M. Bentley overwhelmed former State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard. Bentley will face the Democratic incumbent, Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, in the fall election.

In Missouri Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton won the Democratic nomination for governor in a runaway over four opponents.

Among the Republicans, State Rep. Edward G. Farmer beat out Rep. William B. Ewald by a sizable margin for governor.

In Kansas, incumbent Republican Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel trounced a political newcomer, Henry P. Cleaver, who had sought Schoeppel's U. S. Senate seat.

Frank Theis defeated Lt. Gov. Joseph Henkle in the Democratic contest for the right to oppose Schoeppel this fall.

The GOP race for governor in Kansas was close, with Atty. Gen. John Anderson nosing out newspaper publisher McDill (Huck) Boyd.

Red Korean Pilot Flies Plane To South Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A handsome, young North Korean airman defected to South Korea today in a MIG15 jet fighter.

"I came because I longed for freedom," said Lt. Chung Nakhyun, 24, after he safely brought his speedy, Soviet-designed fighter down on a tiny, sandy airstrip at Taipo-ri, on the east coast 40 miles south of the truce line between South Korea and the Communist North.

Park Picnic Held By Women's Club At Tomlinson Run

Members of the Panhandle Business & Professional Women's Club held a picnic Tuesday night at Tomlinson Run State Park near Pughtown.

Each member brought a box lunch. Mrs. Richard Martin and Mrs. Alvin Fineman, hostesses, served dessert and summer beverages. A red-and-white color scheme was carried out in the table appointments.

Mrs. Francis Stephens announced that the West Virginia books will be ready for distribution within a few weeks and urged all members "to pay for the brochures promptly."

Plans were discussed for a family picnic Sept. 6 in the upper pavilion of the park at 6 o'clock. Hostesses will be Mrs. J. E. Hall, Mrs. Grace Shaffer and Mrs. Allie Dever. A program on health and safety will be presented by Mrs. Hall.

The first representative assembly in America was Virginia's House of Burgesses, founded in 1619.

250 Attend Republican Rally At DAV's Home In West Point

More than 250 attended a meeting of Columbiana County Republican Committeemen Tuesday night in the Disabled American Veterans home at West Point.

The event launched the party's campaign in the county and Ernest U. Whitacre of Salem Township, county committee chairman, said "it will be carried into every precinct in the county."

Other phases will be a registration drive in East Liverpool prior to the voter signup deadline Sept. 28, and a get-out-the vote drive prior to and on election day. Only East Liverpool has registration.

Organization campaigns will be held in every township and there will be two rallies — a picnic in September and a dinner in October.

Party candidates in the November election, committeewomen and poll workers also were present.

Reports on the national convention held in Chicago were given by Mrs. Letha C. Astry of Salem, secretary of the state delegation, and Robert Bell of Steubenville, state central committeeman for the 18th Congressional District.

It was announced that the party's executive committee and all GOP candidates will convene Monday night at 6 in the Wick Hotel, Lisbon, to plan the campaign meetings throughout the county.

Other speakers last night included Paul E. Newbold of the Weirton Steel Co.; Robert Stockdale of Ravenna, member of GOP state headquarters; T. Gerald Ryan of East Liverpool, district finance chairman and member of the state finance committee, and Frank O'Hanlon, secretary of the county executive committee.

The issuance of disabled and absentee voters' ballots was discussed, including the method of obtaining them.

Members of the executive committee were introduced.

Death Appeal Set Before Top Court

CINCINNATI (AP)—Defense efforts to save Edythe Klumpp from the electric chair will be carried to the U.S. Supreme Court Friday.

William F. Hopkins, attorney for the 42-year-old blonde divorcee, said he is ready to file the latest appeal from the conviction and death sentence imposed on Mrs. Klumpp here in July 1959. The Ohio Supreme Court already has turned down an appeal.

Hopkins said the appeal would be based on the claim Mrs. Klumpp's constitutional rights were violated while she was being questioned by police and at her trial.

Mrs. Klumpp, now in the women's reformatory at Marysville, was convicted of the slaying on Oct. 30, 1958 of Mrs. Louise Bergen. Mrs. Bergen was the estranged wife of William Bergen with whom Mrs. Klumpp had been living for five months.

Crime Probe Termed Legal

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Crime Commission, contrary to what one of its members, feared, isn't breaking the law.

Del. George A. Rairden R-Mason asked the Attorney General's Office to look into the payment of the expenses of the commission members. He had in mind a section of the State Constitution on salaries and other payment to legislators which prohibits allowances or emoluments other than those specifically prescribed.

The five state senators and five delegates making up the commission have been getting $25 a day plus 10 cents a mile for travel while they are on its business.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Giles D. H. Snyder yesterday released an opinion upholding the legality of the expense money.

On the releveant section of the constitution, Snyder wrote that "we feel this should not be viewed as a proscription against the payment of proper legislative expenses, but rather an inhibition against the payment of personal expenses of the members. . ."

'Sick Rivers' Seen Snag To West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia's silt-ridden and acid-polluted streams were cast in a new light today — as a major reason why the state's vigorous young population steadily is migrating elsewhere.

"Sick rivers turn people sick, either inwardly or physically, and no man can deny that fact," Education Chief Robert R. Bowers of the Conservation Department declared.

"I couldn't in good faith raise my children along a black, silt-ridden river, or one turned red with acid mine drainage. A lot of others don't want to raise their youngsters there, either, and so they move elsewhere," he said.

Conservation Director Warden M. Lane went beyond Bowers' position to stress that "industry looks for clean waters when surveying a state for attributes which lend themselves to its requirements."

And only last week, the Water Resources Commission — of which Lane is a member — interrupted its regular agenda to make an informal plea to newsmen to help it get its story across to the average citizen.

Former chairman W. W. Jennings insisted that, somehow, the "public is going to have to be awakened to this commission's responsibilities and importance, and the need for an adequate legislative appropriation to enable it to do its job."

Lane emphasized today that "clean waters attract concrete and steel industries, facilities that people here generally can see and evaluate, just as they attract tourists." Then he generally suported Bowers' views this way:

"The streams, forests and other pleasant surroundings that drew 270 million dollars worth of tourist business to West Virginia last year are the same attractions that make us proud of our state.

"Our people like to fish and hunt and travel in clean places, just like tourists from elsewhere. When such cleanliness is lacking, they begin to fret and look elsewhere for jobs and places to raise their children."

Bowers recalled a poster contest, on a theme of "Good Conservation In Action," arranged for sixth graders in a southern West Virginia school a few years ago.

"According to reports from that county," he said, "every member of the class entered a poster. And every pupil colored the sky blue, the hills green — and the river black."

He complained that while "we merely warn an industry or others for destroying a stream running through property owned by a thousand individuals, we arrest in a minute one who burns a forest belonging to just one man."

"We are often told by the various operations which contribute the most pollution to streams: 'we can't afford to clean up the rivers. If we did, it would cost thousands of dollars,' "Bowers observed, then added:

"Yet one wonders, after hearing such comments, whether the price of cleaning up the rivers is not cheaper than that on our children.

"The question naturally follows as to whether it is more important that a great many people make a living from these natural resources or whether a few make a fortune.

"We talk about how good conservation is for soil, water, game, fish and forests without considering that the only resource which justifies conservation in the first place is that represented by just plain people."

Woman, 25, Loses Life In Lake Near Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A 25-year-old Howland Twp. woman drowned Tuesday night while wading with two companions in Mosquito Lake 10 miles northeast of here. She was Miss Shirley Weimer, whose body was recovered two hours later by firemen and sheriff's deputies.

Her companions — Mrs. Helen Sweetman, 28, and Mrs. Mary Penny, 25, both of Howland Twp.— were rescued by Alvin Hackfarth, 34, of Butler, Pa., and Mrs. Sweetman's husband, John, 29. Deputies said the women walked off a sandbar into 25-foot-deep water off shore from the Cortland Conservation Club.

'Sick Rivers' Seen Snag To West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia's silt-ridden and acid-polluted streams were cast in a new light today — as a major reason why the state's vigorous young population steadily is migrating elsewhere.

"Sick rivers turn people sick, either inwardly or physically, and no man can deny that fact," Education Chief Robert R. Bowers of the Conservation Department declared.

"I couldn't in good faith raise my children along a black, silt-ridden river, or one turned red with acid mine drainage. A lot of others don't want to raise their youngsters there, either, and so they move elsewhere," he said.

Conservation Director Warden M. Lane went beyond Bowers' position to stress that "industry looks for clean waters when surveying a state for attributes which lend themselves to its requirements."

And only last week, the Water Resources Commission — of which Lane is a member — interrupted its regular agenda to make an informal plea to newsmen to help it get its story across to the average citizen.

Former chairman W. W. Jennings insisted that, somehow, the "public is going to have to be awakened to this commission's responsibilities and importance, and the need for an adequate legislative appropriation to enable it to do its job."

Lane emphasized today that "clean waters attract concrete and steel industries, facilities that people here generally can see and evaluate, just as they attract tourists." Then he generally suported Bowers' views this way:

"The streams, forests and other pleasant surroundings that drew 270 million dollars worth of tourist business to West Virginia last year are the same attractions that make us proud of our state.

"Our people like to fish and hunt and travel in clean places, just like tourists from elsewhere. When such cleanliness is lacking, they begin to fret and look elsewhere for jobs and places to raise their children."

Bowers recalled a poster contest, on a theme of "Good Conservation In Action," arranged for sixth graders in a southern West Virginia school a few years ago.

"According to reports from that county," he said, "every member of the class entered a poster. And every pupil colored the sky blue, the hills green — and the river black."

He complained that while "we merely warn an industry or others for destroying a stream running through property owned by a thousand individuals, we arrest in a minute one who burns a forest belonging to just one man."

"We are often told by the various operations which contribute the most pollution to streams: 'we can't afford to clean up the rivers. If we did, it would cost thousands of dollars,' "Bowers observed, then added:

"Yet one wonders, after hearing such comments, whether the price of cleaning up the rivers is not cheaper than that on our children.

"The question naturally follows as to whether it is more important that a great many people make a living from these natural resources or whether a few make a fortune.

"We talk about how good conservation is for soil, water, game, fish and forests without considering that the only resource which justifies conservation in the first place is that represented by just plain people."

Woman, 25, Loses Life In Lake Near Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A 25-year-old Howland Twp. woman drowned Tuesday night while wading with two companions in Mosquito Lake 10 miles northeast of here. She was Miss Shirley Weimer, whose body was recovered two hours later by firemen and sheriff's deputies.

Her companions — Mrs. Helen Sweetman, 28, and Mrs. Mary Penny, 25, both of Howland Twp.— were rescued by Alvin Hackfarth, 34, of Butler, Pa., and Mrs. Sweetman's husband, John, 29. Deputies said the women walked off a sandbar into 25-foot-deep water off shore from the Cortland Conservation Club.

Hancock Board Meets

Cameron Named Principal Of High School At Weirton

The Hancock County Board of Education Tuesday night appointed one of its former members as principal of Weir High School to succeed John J. Greer, who resigned after 20 years.

Crawford H. Cameron, 34, was elevated from assistant principal to principal. He served on the Board of Education for three years after resigning as a teacher at Weir High to become assistant manager of the Weirton Savings & Loan Assn.

Thomas C. Shields Jr. from Ohio County was named to be assistant principal of the Weirton school. He was the county's choice last year to attend an educational meeting for young leaders and teachers.

In other business, the board employed five teachers, two janitors and an extra bus driver, accepted the resignations of two instructors and granted requests.

Teachers hired included Mrs. Linda McClung, Robert Wern, Harry R. Kounovitch, Keith McClung and Miss Helen Beaumont.

Resigning were Sue Hoover Putich of Broadview and Mrs. Hazel Ankrom of Chester Elementary. Leaves of absence were granted Mrs. Mildred King of Cove and Mrs. Sue Allison of Chester Central.

The board authorized Supt. Robert H. Hall, its secretary, to advertise for bids for coal, pupil insurance, bus insurance and milk. Bids will be opened at the next meeting, Aug. 16.

Harold D. Grim was employed as an extra bus driver. Floyd L. Woods and George W. Dyer were hired as janitors for Weirton Elementary.

The board authorized the Weir High School Band to participate in the Ohio-West Virginia All-Star football game in Wheeling Aug. 13, to appear in the Macy Thanksgiving Day parade in New York and for the junior and senior bands to attend Kennywood Park, Pittsburgh, for a Festival of Music.

The Weir band also was given permission to march in a Garibaldi Society parade in Follansbee Saturday.

Routine reports were heard. The rate of levy was approved for the annual budget. Dr. W. Dale Williams presided.

Grocer Declines Club Nomination

Russell Davis of Carolina Ave., Chester, a grocer, was nominated at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night as a candidate for lieutenant governor of the 1st Division, but later declined to run.

The divisional meeting and election will be held next Tuesday at 6 p. m. at the Weirton Community Center, with the Weirton club as host. Members of the Chester club will meet at Chester City Hall at 5 for transportation.

Alvin Arner Jr., president, announced club members will be guests of the Lions Club at an outdoor picnic meeting Aug. 11 at 6:30 p. m. at the Lions clubhouse.

Plans were discussed for the annual public pancake supper in the fall.

Jail Break Foiled

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies thwarted an attempt by five prisoners to break out of the Trumbull County Jail Tuesday. Officers said the prisoners were using metal pieces broken from bunks to gouge a hole in the jail wall, but were caught before they made much headway. The five were transferred to separate cells in the city jail.

Job Increases Reported For Steubenville-Weirton

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department says job gains centered principally in non-manufacturing industries have improved the unemployment situation in the Steubenville-Weirton, Ohio-W. Va., area.

And, the department said Tuesday, the gains are expected to increase between now and autumn.

As a result of the improved situation, the department said, it has removed the area from the substantial labor surplus D group to the moderate labor surplus category C.

The Class C rating indicates unemployment of between 3 and 5.9 per cent of the area's labor force. Under Class D, unemployment ranged from 6 through 8.9 per cent.

The department said that since early spring unemployment in the Steubenville-Weirton area had decreased one-fourth.

The East Liverpool-Salem area was added to the listing of Smaller areas with substantial labor surpluses.

Three major areas were added to the substantial labor surplus groups and one was removed according to the nationwide report. This resulted in an increase in the total of such areas to 38—compared with 46 in this category a year earlier.

There are three separate listings of such cities—D., E, F.

The Youngstown-Warren, Ohio, area was shifted from C rating—moderate labor surplus — to a Class E—Substantial labor surplus — indicating unemployment between 9 and 12 per cent of the labor force.

Lorain-Elyria, Ohio, was moved from the C list of moderate labor surplus to Class D—indicating unemployment from 6 through 8.9 per cent.

Columbus, Ohio, was moved from C—moderate labor surplus —to B—low unemployment.

Dayton, Ohio, was shifted from B, low unemployment, to C, moderate labor surplus. 3

The number of smaller areas of substantial labor surplus in July was 116 compared with 113 this May and 143 in July last year.

The department also lists separately areas where high unemployment has been a relatively persistent problem for most of the past few years. Firms located in such areas are entitled to first preference in bidding on "set aside" portions of government contracts.

Between May and July, one major area was added — Lorain-Elyria, Ohio.

In explaining the addition of the three new areas to the list of major areas with substantial unemployment, the department gave the following analysis:

Youngstown-Warren, Ohio—"Recent heavy losses in dominant steel cause sharp rise in local unemployment."

Lorain-Elyria, Ohio — "Sizeable layoffs in steel, smaller reductions in auto parts, other durables boost unemployment . . . Outmigration prevents even larger jobless increase."

County Destroys Old Office Books, Records

LISBON—Old records and books from the clerk of courts office, recorder's office and Probate Court are being destroyed by Harold Deidrick, maintenance supervisor, and his crew.

The records are those not claimed by the Columbiana County Historical Society and thus can be burned by law as authorized by the Columbiana County records committee several months ago.

Ike Due Report On NATO Forces

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower gets a report today on North Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe from their supreme commander, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad.

The President arranged an afternoon conference at the summer White House with Norstad, who holds the NATO job from which Eisenhower resigned in 1952 to run for president. Eisenhower was the first commander of the NATO troops in Europe.

After the session with Norstad the President has on his schedule a conference with two National Security aides flying in from Washington.

Tuesday night Eisenhower made public a message urging Korean students to guard their country's freedom and be constantly on the alert against what he termed the new and deadly colonialism of international communism.

He sent the message to university students who tried unsuccessfully to see and talk to him when he visited Seoul, capital of South Korea, in June.

DiSalle, Kennedy Set Ohio Strategy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle took off early today for Hyannis Port, Mass., for a one-day campaign strategy conference with Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Two chartered planes whisked the governor, three aides and four newsmen from the airport at Port Columbus. Accompanying the governor were Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys, Maurice Connell, an administrative assistant, and Mildred Cunningham, a secretary.

The governor indicated he expects to get Kennedy to make three visits to Ohio, each visit to include a number of appearances throughout the state.

Visitors To West Virginia Eye Life 'Down On Farm'

CHARLESTON (AP) — The last laugh belongs to those largely ignored individuals who have been insisting for several years that a West Virginia farm can be a delightful place for a vacation.

The Industrial and Publicity Commission has received almost 300 requests for a month-old brochure listing 29 farms which offer tourist accomodations — and detailing rates and recreational facilities available.

Meanwhile, conservation and agriculture departments will publish in mid-September a brochure of farm accomodations available to hunters and fishermen. Indications today were that about 45 such farms would be listed.

The tourist folder was the subject of several news stories before it came off the presses late in June. Others since have followed in Washington, D. C., New York, Toledo and other out-of-state dailies.

A joint commission-State Agriculture Department venture, the brochure gives vacationers the choice of strictly agricultural areas, or others close to state parks and forests, mountain resorts and historical sites.

"Statistics show that West Virginia is being 'discovered' by many who are interested in vacation variety," Executive Director Don Crislip of the Industrial and Publicity Commission has reiterated.

The early flood of brochure requests from Darien Conn.; North Caldwell, N. J., and many other communities in the populous East has given support to that view, along with this other one Crislip frequently has expressed:

"Travelers, tired of the hustle and bustle of the city, would enjoy the wealth of hospitality offered by friendly natives. Farm vacations are appealing to many families."

A federal government worker living on a "limited budget" in Arlington, Va., noted in requesting the brochure that a farm "is very appealing to me for an ideal outdoor summer vacation."

A Huntington woman chimed in that "I've been looking for just this sort of vacation for our boys." A promise of "typical mountain food and traditional hospitality" aroused a Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, woman's interest.

"I was in West Virginia briefly a few years ago and would enjoy a vacation in the mountains," wrote a Danbury, Conn., resident. He, of course, has Vermont's Green Mountains and the Adirondacks much closer to him.

A Newark, N. J., mother explained that "we are a family of four—two adults, and two children six and three." "We've three youngsters under 10," a request from West Islip, Long Island, N.Y. read.

From Baltimore came a query for specific information about cottages "with complete facilities." Some of the farms listed have made no secret that they offer a rustic atmosphere, including "outside plumbing."

And then there was the request from the fastidious and particular type of individual, such as the Washington, D. C., resident who set forth these board and room requirements:

"Twin or separate" bedroom, private bath and clean meals."

His letter was addressed to the Industrial and Publicity Commission Office, State Capitol Building, Charleston, W. Va. — USA.

County's Patrol Fines Are 21st In Ohio Total

Columbiana County ranked 21st among Ohio's 88 counties in the amount of highway patrol fines collected during the fisal year which ended June 30, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports.

Fines in Columbiana totaled $22,662. Sandusky County led with $49,095.

Liquor fines in Columbiana County totaled $375, placing the county 23rd in the state in that respect. Cuyahoga County led all others in liquor fines with $19,110 — almost 35 per cent of the total.

More Pay For Election Aides Advocated In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Higher, uniform pay for election officials was recommended by the West Virginia Election Commission Tuesday as it studied further proposed revisions in West Virginia laws.

The commission session was another in line in a 1959 legislative resolution requesting it to revise state election laws and to pass along its findings to the 1961 session.

Election officials currently are paid up to $10 a day for — in the particular case of ballot commissioners — a maximum of five days.

The revision recommended Tuesday would set a flat $20 compensation for election officials. It would leave unchanged the present additional $10, plus mileage at seven cents, paid the individual official designated to pick up and return ballot boxes.

The commission noted that there is an inconsistency in current pay of election officials. While those in some counties might finish their work in one day, work in others might be spread out over two days and officials there are paid twice as much.

The proposed change also would double, to $20, the present daily compensation for the three ballot commissioners.

Before the commission Tuesday was a three-part paper prepared by its technical assistant, Morgantown attorney Stanley E. Dadisman.

The first part of the voluminous presentation set forth a draft for recodification of Chapter 3 — the election law chapter in the state code.

The second section detailed proposed changes in the election laws and the third represented a statement of findings and recommendations from county circuit clerks and others.

Another proposed change would spell out in the law the right of voters registered as independents to serve as election officials and to cast ballots in non-partisan and other public question elections, such as those on bond issues.

Wellsville Area Man Held For Grand Jury

David Dewayne Petty, 20, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was bound over to the September Grand Jury Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on a charge of sodomy. Bond was set at $1,500.

Petty was involved in setting fire to a sawmill, about 5 miles out of Wellsville last month, along with a 14-year-old Wellsville juvenile.

The juvenile was placed with relatives by Judge Tobin at a hearing Tuesday morning.

Cattle Slaughter Shows Increase In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Commercial plants in West Virginia slaughtered 21,100 head of livestock during June, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says.

Cattle slaughter was up 5 per cent compared with June a year ago, while calves, hogs and sheep and lambs were down by as little as 2 per cent to as much as 11 per cent.

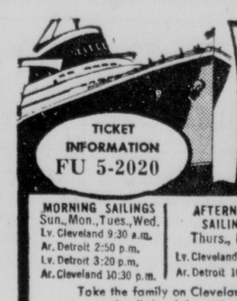

The agency reported over-all red meat production was up 4 per cent, with the average live weight at killing time generally heavier than in June 1959.

Cattle slaughtered for the first six months of 1960 was 33,000 head. The current figure compares with 30,200 head for the same period of last year.

Hog slaughter the first six months was 96,500, calves 6,300, sheep 4,800 and lambs 5,400.

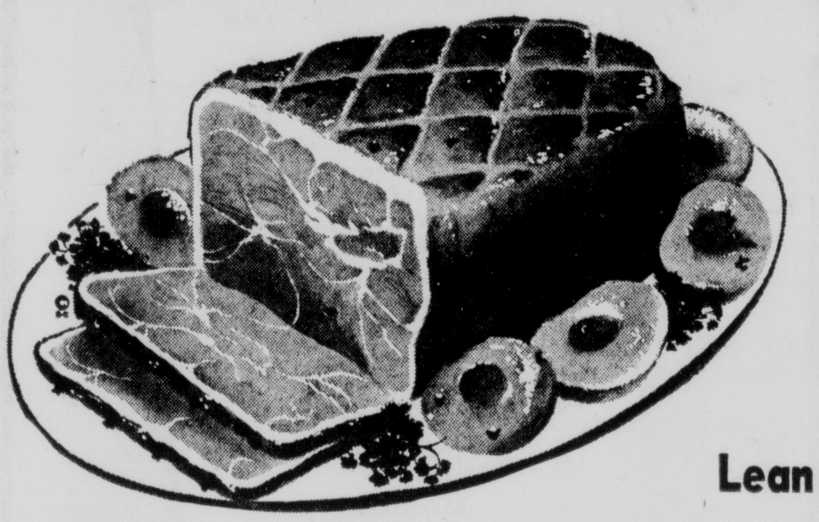

The state's lamb crop this year is expected to total 240,000 head, the crop reporting service announced. The total would place the 1960 crop 3 per cent below last year and 8 per cent less than the recent 10-year average.

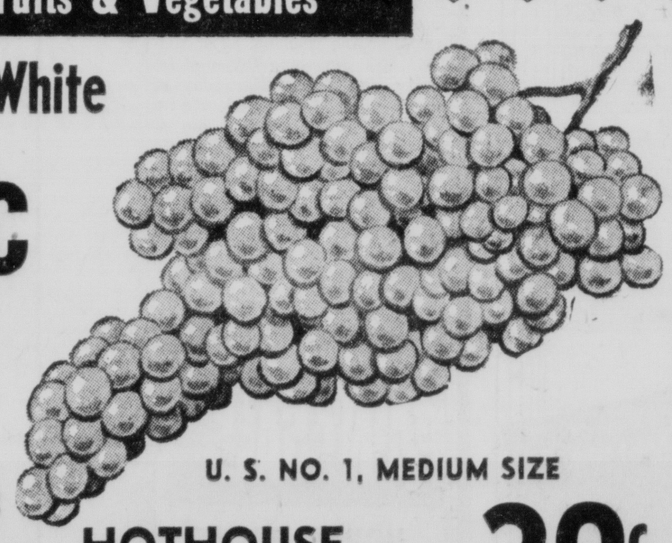

The wool crop this year is estimated at 1,393,000 pounds, a decrease of 2 per cent from last year. The reduction in the number of sheep shorn is expected to cause the drop. The total number of sheep shorn is down 5,000 head from 1959.

Railroad Ends Strike Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A threatened strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad was averted Tuesday when a rail union and railroad management agreed to submit their dispute to a special board of adjustment.

The National Mediation Board said a threatened strike date of 6 a. m. Thursday was withdrawn by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen after it agreed to set up the adjustment board.

Decisions of the board are binding on both sides under provisions of the Railway Labor Act.

Some 5,000 union members had threatened to strike in a dispute over work assignments at Pittsburgh, Pa. A union official said the strike would have affected the railroad's operations from New York to St. Louis.

Under the agreement the railroad and union will each name one member to the board of adjustment. The labor-management representatives will then select a third member within five days after their first meeting.

Area Railroaders Glad At Strike Avoidance

Railroaders at the Wellsville yards said today they were glad that a threatened strike on the Pennsylvania Railroad had been avoided.

Had the strike developed, picket lines probably would have left some 200 idle at Wellsville and 2,000 to 3,000 at the Conway Yards.

Mr. Pridemore was knocked about 15 feet by the explosion, the coroner's office said. Fellow workers indicated that there may have been a leak in the acetylene line, which exploded in some manner. Oxygen and acetylene are used in the line to create jet of heat at the machine to peel off scales on ingots.

The company reported that Mr. Pridemore was cleaning the dash pots of the three acetylene regulating valves located inside the scarfing machine when apparently an explosive mixture developed inside the manifold cabinet and was ignited by some undetermined cause.

No others suffered injury in the accident, the company said. This marked the first fatal accident at the plant in over 33 million man-hours worked.

An investigation into the cause and damage is being conducted, the company said.

Mr. Pridemore was the helper on the machine and Straight the operator.

The Midland fire volunteer department was called by Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri at 8:35 p. m. and returned a few minutes later as no fire followed.

Mr. Pridemore was born in Hamlin, W. Va., Aug. 23, 1936, son of Kyle Pridemore and Lena Huffman Pridemore, who now reside in East Liverpool.

He was a scarfer at the Crucible plant for eight years and was a member of Steelworkers Local 1212.

Besides his parents, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Betty Sue Barronton Pridemore at home; two brothers, James H. Pridemore of East Liverpool and Kenneth D. Pridemore of Point Pleasant, W. Va.; two half-brothers, Jennings Pridemore and Kim W. Pridemore, and two half-sisters, Miss Dixie Gail Pridemore and Miss Deborah Lynn Pridemore, all of East Liverpool; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huffman and the paternal grandfather, Frank Pridemore, all of Sweetland, W. Va.

Friends may call at the Martin Funeral Home tonight. The body will then be removed to the Huffman home in Sweetland, where services will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. Friends may call at the Huffman residence Thursday night.

Burial will be in the Miller Cemetery at Hamlin.

The Koons Funeral Home in Hamlin is in charge of arrangements.

Railroad Ends Strike Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A threatened strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad was averted Tuesday when a rail union and railroad management agreed to submit their dispute to a special board of adjustment.

The National Mediation Board said a threatened strike date of 6 a. m. Thursday was withdrawn by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen after it agreed to set up the adjustment board.

Decisions of the board are binding on both sides under provisions of the Railway Labor Act.

Some 5,000 union members had threatened to strike in a dispute over work assignments at Pittsburgh, Pa. A union official said the strike would have affected the railroad's operations from New York to St. Louis.

Under the agreement the railroad and union will each name one member to the board of adjustment. The labor-management representatives will then select a third member within five days after their first meeting.

Area Railroaders Glad At Strike Avoidance

Railroaders at the Wellsville yards said today they were glad that a threatened strike on the Pennsylvania Railroad had been avoided.

Had the strike developed, picket lines probably would have left some 200 idle at Wellsville and 2,000 to 3,000 at the Conway Yards.

James Swain, a member of the First United Presbyterian Church, reported yesterday afternoon that someone took a power mower and a 2-gallon can from the garage at the church on Carolina Ave. sometime over the weekend.

Mr. Pridemore was knocked about 15 feet by the explosion, the coroner's office said. Fellow workers indicated that there may have been a leak in the acetylene line, which exploded in some manner. Oxygen and acetylene are used in the line to create jet of heat at the machine to peel off scales on ingots.

The company reported that Mr. Pridemore was cleaning the dash pots of the three acetylene regulating valves located inside the scarfing machine when apparently an explosive mixture developed inside the manifold cabinet and was ignited by some undetermined cause.

Reds Striving To Block U.N. Disarm Talks

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet bloc campaigned today for a general boycott of the 82-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission meeting asked by the United States for Aug. 15.

Contact men from the nine Communist delegations were visiting Asian, African and other missions to the U.N., urging that they stay away from the meeting. The Communists were plugging the Soviet Union's rival proposal for a summit conference of all 82 U.N. members during the General Assembly convening Sept. 20.

The Communist argument was that the permanent U.N. delegates who make up the Disarmament Commission have authority to do no more than engage in the time-wasting debate, while the heads of government have full power to conclude agreements.

Diplomatic sources said most U.N. delegations had agreed informally to the Aug. 15 meeting before commission chairman Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico proposed it formally last Friday. But many were reported reconsidering because of the Soviet stand.

The feeling in some delegations seemed to be that a disarmament meeting without one of the world's two big armed camps would only underline and cement the deadlock between the West and the Communists.

The State Department said, however, that it was going ahead with its proposal for the commission meeting even without the Soviets. Press officer Lincoln White said in Washington any government head—including Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev—could attend the commission meeting if he wanted to, and that commission discussion did not preclude a disarmament discussion by the General Assembly.

Judge Faces Hearing For Drunken Driving

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Guernsey County Probate Judge S. Craig Carnes, charged with drunken driving on two successive Sundays, is scheduled to answer the first of the charges in court today.

The 49-year-old Cambridge jurist is to appear in Muskingum County Court here on charges filed by Ohio highway patrolmen who accused him of drunken driving on U.S. 40, eight miles east of Zanesville, in the early hours of Sunday, July 24.

Last Sunday the patrol stopped Judge Carnes again, this time on U.S. 21 north of Cambridge, and filed another drunken driving charge against him and also a charge of driving without a license. He's scheduled to answer those charges in Cambridge Municipal Court Aug. 17.

Couple Held For Trial On Delinquency Charge

Robert L. Wooten, 24, of Dodge St., East Liverpool, and Lena L. Grimm, 23, of 2007 Nevada St., Wellsville, pleaded not guilty at a hearing Monday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for contributing to the delinquency of her four children.

The affidavit, signed by Mrs. Grimm's husband, alleges that she was in a car with Wooten and two other men at 12:45 a. m. on July 26.

Bond for both was set at $500 and trial will be held Wednesday, Aug. 10. Mrs. Grimm gained her release but Wooten was confined to the county jail in lieu of bond.

Moundsville Pen Among Sites That Board Will Visit

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Board of Public Works announced Tuesday a tentative schedule of visits to seven state institutions as a part of work preliminary to preparing a 1961-62 budget document for submission to the West Virginia legislature next January.

A 1955 legislative resolution requested that the board and the state budget director make personal visits to each state institution prior to whipping the budget document into final shape in December.

Joseph C. Peters, the board's research analyst, said that tentative plans call for trips to Spencer State Hospital and the West Virginia Training School at St. Marys Thursday. The remainder of the schedule tentatively approved so far:

Aug. 5, the State Penitentiary at Moundsville and West Liberty State College; Aug. 9, Barboursville and Huntington State Hospitals, and Aug. 11, West Virginia State College at Institute.

President Elvis J. Stahr Jr. of West Virginia University has suggested Sept. 14-15 or Sept. 21-22 as the time for a board visit to Morgantown. Both dates are under study by the various board members.

Reuther Talks With Kennedy

By G. MILTON KELLY

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —Sen. John F. Kennedy had a heavy date today with Walter P. Reuther, president of the politically potent United Auto Workers Union.

Reuther was among the early Kennedy-for-President forces. But friends described him as having just about "hit the ceiling" when Kennedy chose Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas as a running mate.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Reuther's home state of Michigan, who also had looked sourly at the choice of Johnson, told Kennedy Tuesday the Texan now is "most acceptable" to Democrats in that state.

Kennedy headquarters said the short notice meeting between the presidential nominee and his sharp-tongued labor chief friend was arranged at Kennedy's invitation, mainly to discuss unemployment in the automobile industry.

It provides an opportunity, however, for Reuther to speak out on political matters if he chooses. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio and a half-dozen of Kennedy's advisers were expected later, for separate talks with the senator on a variety of subjects.

Thursday, Kennedy switches to talks on farm problems, planning meetings with Gov. Herschel Loveless of Iowa, whom many regard as a likely choice for secretary of agriculture if Kennedy wins the Nov. 8 election.

This is Kennedy's third and final week of a work-rest stay at his summer home. He will fly back to Washington Sunday night, to plunge into the turmoil of the resuming congress session.

1,293 Beaver Owners Lack Licenses For Dogs

Some 1,293 Beaver County dog owners have failed to buy 1960 licenses, according to a recent check of permits sold at Beaver, Richard L. Taafe, Pennsylvania dog law officer for the county, said.

He said that delinquent owners are liable to fines and costs and 30 days in jail or both. Dogs six months or older must be licensed and kept under control.

Taafe said that fines have totaled more than $700 for some 80 violators summoned. He warned owners who have not purchased license to do so without further delay.

The Communist argument was that the permanent U.N. delegates who make up the Disarmament Commission have authority to do no more than engage in the time-wasting debate, while the heads of government have full power to conclude agreements.

Diplomatic sources said most U.N. delegations had agreed informally to the Aug. 15 meeting before commission chairman Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico proposed it formally last Friday. But many were reported reconsidering because of the Soviet stand.

The feeling in some delegations seemed to be that a disarmament meeting without one of the world's two big armed camps would only underline and cement the deadlock between the West and the Communists.

The State Department said, however, that it was going ahead with its proposal for the commission meeting even without the Soviets. Press officer Lincoln White said in Washington any government head—including Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev—could attend the commission meeting if he wanted to, and that commission discussion did not preclude a disarmament discussion by the General Assembly.

Judge Faces Hearing For Drunken Driving

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Guernsey County Probate Judge S. Craig Carnes, charged with drunken driving on two successive Sundays, is scheduled to answer the first of the charges in court today.

The 49-year-old Cambridge jurist is to appear in Muskingum County Court here on charges filed by Ohio highway patrolmen who accused him of drunken driving on U.S. 40, eight miles east of Zanesville, in the early hours of Sunday, July 24.

Last Sunday the patrol stopped Judge Carnes again, this time on U.S. 21 north of Cambridge, and filed another drunken driving charge against him and also a charge of driving without a license. He's scheduled to answer those charges in Cambridge Municipal Court Aug. 17.

Couple Held For Trial On Delinquency Charge

Robert L. Wooten, 24, of Dodge St., East Liverpool, and Lena L. Grimm, 23, of 2007 Nevada St., Wellsville, pleaded not guilty at a hearing Monday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for contributing to the delinquency of her four children.

The affidavit, signed by Mrs. Grimm's husband, alleges that she was in a car with Wooten and two other men at 12:45 a. m. on July 26.

Bond for both was set at $500 and trial will be held Wednesday, Aug. 10. Mrs. Grimm gained her release but Wooten was confined to the county jail in lieu of bond.

Moundsville Pen Among Sites That Board Will Visit

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Board of Public Works announced Tuesday a tentative schedule of visits to seven state institutions as a part of work preliminary to preparing a 1961-62 budget document for submission to the West Virginia legislature next January.

A 1955 legislative resolution requested that the board and the state budget director make personal visits to each state institution prior to whipping the budget document into final shape in December.

Joseph C. Peters, the board's research analyst, said that tentative plans call for trips to Spencer State Hospital and the West Virginia Training School at St. Marys Thursday. The remainder of the schedule tentatively approved so far:

Aug. 5, the State Penitentiary at Moundsville and West Liberty State College: Aug. 9, Barboursville and Huntington State Hospitals, and Aug. 11, West Virginia State College at Institute.

President Elvis J. Stahr Jr. of West Virginia University has suggested Sept. 14-15 or Sept. 21-22 as the time for a board visit to Morgantown. Both dates are under study by the various board members.

Reuther Talks With Kennedy

By G. MILTON KELLY

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —Sen. John F. Kennedy had a heavy date today with Walter P. Reuther, president of the politically potent United Auto Workers Union.

Reuther was among the early Kennedy-for-President forces. But friends described him as having just about "hit the ceiling" when Kennedy chose Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas as a running mate.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Reuther's home state of Michigan, who also had looked sourly at the choice of Johnson, told Kennedy Tuesday the Texan now is "most acceptable" to Democrats in that state.

Kennedy headquarters said the short notice meeting between the presidential nominee and his sharp-tongued labor chief friend was arranged at Kennedy's invitation, mainly to discuss unemployment in the automobile industry.

It provides an opportunity, however, for Reuther to speak out on political matters if he chooses. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio and a half-dozen of Kennedy's advisers were expected later, for separate talks with the senator on a variety of subjects.

Thursday, Kennedy switches to talks on farm problems, planning meetings with Gov. Herschel Loveless of Iowa, whom many regard as a likely choice for secretary of agriculture if Kennedy wins the Nov. 8 election.

This is Kennedy's third and final week of a work-rest stay at his summer home. He will fly back to Washington Sunday night, to plunge into the turmoil of the resuming congress session.

Lonely Pigeon Freed

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Tuesday night freed a lonely pigeon that had stared out of a show window in an abandoned store building for two days. The bird apparently entered through an upstairs window and then couldn't find its way out.

1,293 Beaver Owners Lack Licenses For Dogs

Some 1,293 Beaver County dog owners have failed to buy 1960 licenses, according to a recent check of permits sold at Beaver, Richard L. Taafe, Pennsylvania dog law officer for the county, said.

He said that delinquent owners are liable to fines and costs and 30 days in jail or both. Dogs six months or older must be licensed and kept under control.

Taafe said that fines have totaled more than $700 for some 80 violators summoned. He warned owners who have not purchased license to do so without further delay.

Rotarians Hear Judge

Probation Factors Aired

The basic factors in granting probation and the risks involved were discussed by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in a talk to the Rotary Club Tuesday.

The Common Pleas Court jurist declared that "the best indication of a man's future is what he has done in the past" in considering factors for determining probation.

JUDGE BUZZARD, speaking at the club's noon luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel, said the question of allowing probation, particularly young persons, "bothers me more than anything else."

Probation may be granted a person who has pleaded guilty to an offense or has been convicted of a crime, except in the cases of murder, arson, sex offenses, rape without consent and similar felonies.

"No probation is granted until an investigation is completed of the defendant's past history," the jurist emphasized in the talk on administrative and semi-judicial duties of his office.

—:—

"WE TRY TO find out their social history, work record, armed service background and everything and anything that might enlighten the court," Judge Buzzard said.

After a probation officer files the report with the court, the case is assigned for a hearing.

"The statute says a man of good character and not likely to repeat an offense may be placed on probation.

"But lots of persons, particularly the young, are smarter than their records indicate," Judge Buzzard continued.

"They put on a good front, they cry and have their families present for the hearing," he added. "The court has to probe its conscience, however, as it can't turn everybody loose.

—:—

"BUT THERE are some cases where a man will not get mixed up again," Judge Buzzard added, "as some were in bad company, or drinking, and didn't think the second time.

"We find it pretty hard to be clairvoyant, but we feel that the best indication of the future is what has been done in the past," he said.

Judge Buzzard also pointed out that the Federal Bureau of Investigation aids the probation officer in securing background information on the person asking probation.

Regarding the basis of some crimes, Judge Buzzard pointed out that of over 20 cases on the criminal docket during the January term of court, all except two could be linked with the defendant drinking at the time he got into trouble.

NOT ALL violators put on probation by the court keep on the "straight and narrow" upon their release from custody, the judge said.

He cited the case of a young East Liverpool boy who was placed on probation after stealing four or five autos and damaging a school building. He had no previous record of convictions and was put on probation in consideration of his past record and the good character of his family, the judge said. But in a month, he stole three other autos and forged a check, eventually being sentenced to the reformatory.

"Sometimes we make a mistake in placing a person on probation," he continued. "They will turn around and commit a vicious crime and tell the court that "I should have known better!

"THE COURT TAKES the chance of awarding probation as it sees the basis for it," he said. The probationer must obey all laws and ordinances of the court, including that he not drink and observe a curfew hour at night.

"A real problem develops when four people commit a crime, all plead guilty and all ask for probation," the judge said, giving an example.

"A report comes back that three have a previous record and one person has no black marks. I put the one with no black marks on probation and sentenced the other three and was severly critized by the families," Judge Buzzard explained. "There is no real way to figure it out."

Judge Buzzard also discussed other duties of the court, including granting of auctioneer's licenses, preparing rules of conduct in the county jail, and approving the budget for the prosecuting attorney's office.

He was introduced by Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, vice president, who presided in the absence of George Hargraves, president.

Cut 'Politics,' Senators Ask

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) said today he hopes the Senate will keep political grandstanding to a minimum and buckle down to serious work when it meets again Monday.

Case said most senators already have had a glorious opportunity to let off steam" at the Los Angeles and Chicago political conventions.

Another call for serious Senate action came Tuesday night from Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa). He asked for major changes in Senate rules to open the way for a hundred days" of action next year on Democratic proposals.

Clark said that during the post-convention session he will introduce rules changes to eliminate the filibuster, prevent time-wasting on irrelevant speeches and strip committee chairmen of much of their power to bottle up bills.

Clark's proposals obviously were too sweeping for a short session to handle. The House does not meet again until Aug. 15. Party leaders hope to wrap up the session by Labor Day.

Like Clark, Case aimed some of his fire at legislative logjams in committees.

"The House Rules Committee, dominated by Southern congressmen, has become the 'graveyard' of much needed legislation," Case said in a report to his New Jersey constituents. He said it has long blocked school aid, housing and other legislation.

Jury Ruling Links Cancer, Smoking

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Smoking is at least a factor in lung cancer, a federal jury has decided, but it refused to blame the cigarette maker.

The jury declined Tuesday to assess any damages against the American Tobacco Co. The estate of Edwin Green, who died of lung cancer, had asked more than one million dollars.

The plaintiff contended Green developed cancer of the left lung as a heavy smoker for 30 years of the firm's Lucky Strikes, with an occasional switch to other brands. Green, himself, started the suit before his death.

American Tobacco challenged lung cancer as cause of Green's death at age 49 in 1958. It also disputed that smoking causes cancer.

The jury found after eight hours deliberation that Green's smoking was "a proximate cause or one of the proximate causes of the development of cancer in his left lung."

It ruled, however, that the manufacturer could not be held responsible prior to the cancer diagnosis Feb. 1, 1956, for knowledge of any danger involved in smoking the cigarettes.

It was brought out in the trial that Green did not smoke again after the cancer diagnosis.

George Stannard, pastor, the group included Miss Lois Dawson and Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, counselors: and Melvin Rowley, lifeguard, and Dale Carothers, Linda Chaffee, Frank Duncan, Robert Laughlin, Gloria Mihlbauer, William Rowley, Linda Steele and Ruth Ann Campbell, campers.

The trip was sponsored by the Pittsburgh Presbytery of the denomination.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 13-year-old Dayton youth drowned Tuesday in a gravel pit within Dayton's city limits. Police said Andrew Bush was swimming with some other boys and suddenly disappeared.

Army Seeking Recovery Of 6 Bodies In '43 Bomber Crash

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Army investigators have gone into the Sierra Mountains to determine the feasibility of recovering the bodies of six airmen—two of them Ohioans — who perished in the crash of a B24 bomber 17 years ago.

The bomber vanished during a World War II training flight from Phoenix, Ariz., to Fresno, Calif. The wreckage was discovered last week by a state ranger.

Ohioans listed as aboard the plane were Lt. Charles W. Turvey of Reesville (Clinton County) and Sgt. Howard A. Wandpke, Toledo.

Fred Goerner, a radio newsman for KCBS, returned from the scene and reported the plane "looked like it had crashed yesterday. Paint and bright metal parts were like new.

"The condition of the bodies, severely mutilated as they were, still surpassed any embalming process known."

The crash occurred at the edge of one of the nation's highest lakes —11,246 feet above sea level.

Goerner, who went to the scene with aqualung diving specialist Bob Fisher, said: "The bomber bounced after hitting, and flipped possibly end over end a quarter to half a mile.

"Then it slammed down onto the ice - covered surface of the 600-yard-long lake and slid across the ice to smash into a rocky cliff at the other side where it disintegrated.

"The heavy part of the motor and fuselage slid back into the lake . . . about 50 feet deep.

"Wearing heavy weights, Bob dived and we located the fuselage intact and badly smashed.

"The crystal clear frigid water perfectly preserved both the plane and mutilated bodies of its occupants, some of which were found inside the fuselage."

County Party Heads Ponder Court Choices

Republican and Democratic party officials today are considering possible candidates to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Elmer T. Phillips on the 7th District Court of Appeals."

Party chairmen and secretaries from each of the 13 counties comprising the appellate court district form the committees which will select the candidates.

They are expected to meet within a few weeks, probably in Youngstown, to select candidates for the post, which will be filled at the Nov. 8 general election.

The law requires the party chairmen in the most populous county —in this case, Mahoning — to call the meetings with at least a majority attending before any action can be taken. A minimum of 14 must attend the meeting after which a decision of the majority will prevail.

The selections must be made by Aug. 24, 76 days before the general election.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is expected to name an interim appointee to serve until Judge Phillips' successor qualifies after the general election.

Steel Expects Lag In Upturn

NEW YORK (AP)—While the bottom in steel operations appears to have been reached, there are indications the autumn upturn may not be as strong as expected earlier, Iron Age Magazine said today.

Incoming orders," the metal-working weekly said, are coming out of the slump they entered two months ago. For the first time since 1958 incoming business just about matches steel output."

The publication said pressure from steel salesmen has resulted in more orders and better tonnages recently, but added, some of this is steel that normally would have been ordered later this month, or even in September and October.

In effect, mills are borrowing from future business. Consequently, there is a growing belief that the October peak will be lower than had been expected."

Iron Age said estimates on the year's steel production now range from 100 to 107 million tons. At the start of the year a record 125 to 130 million was predicted.

Rotarians Hear Judge

Probation Factors Aired

The basic factors in granting probation and the risks involved were discussed by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in a talk to the Rotary Club Tuesday.

The Common Pleas Court jurist declared that "the best indication of a man's future is what he has done in the past" in considering factors for determining probation.

JUDGE BUZZARD, speaking at the club's noon luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel, said the question of allowing probation, particularly young persons, "bothers me more than anything else."

Probation may be granted a person who has pleaded guilty to an offense or has been convicted of a crime, except in the cases of murder, arson, sex offenses, rape without consent and similar felonies.

"No probation is granted until an investigation is completed of the defendant's past history," the jurist emphasized in the talk on administrative and semi-judicial duties of his office.

"WE TRY TO find out their social history, work record, armed service background and everything and anything that might enlighten the court," Judge Buzzard said.

After a probation officer files the report with the court, the case is assigned for a hearing.

"The statute says a man of good character and not likely to repeat an offense may be placed on probation.

"But lots of persons, particularly the young, are smarter than their records indicate," Judge Buzzard continued.

"They put on a good front, they cry and have their families present for the hearing," he added. "The court has to probe its conscience, however, as it can't turn everybody loose.

—:—

"BUT THERE are some cases where a man will not get mixed up again," Judge Buzzard added, "as some were in bad company, or drinking, and didn't think the second time.

"We find it pretty hard to be clairvoyant, but we feel that the best indication of the future is what has been done in the past," he said.

Judge Buzzard also pointed out that the Federal Bureau of Investigation aids the probation officer in securing background information on the person asking probation.

Regarding the basis of some crimes, Judge Buzzard pointed out that of over 20 cases on the criminal docket during the January term of court, all except two could be linked with the defendant drinking at the time he got into trouble.

NOT ALL violators put on probation by the court keep on the "straight and narrow" upon their release from custody, the judge said.

He cited the case of a young East Liverpool boy who was placed on probation after stealing four or five autos and damaging a school building. He had no previous record of convictions and was put on probation in consideration of his past record and the good character of his family, the judge said. But in a month, he stole three other autos and forged a check, eventually being sentenced to the reformatory.

"Sometimes we make a mistake in placing a person on probation," he continued. "They will turn around and commit a vicious crime and tell the court that "I should have known better!

"THE COURT TAKES the chance of awarding probation as it sees the basis for it," he said. The probationer must obey all laws and ordinances of the court, including that he not drink and observe a curfew hour at night.

"A real problem develops when four people commit a crime, all plead guilty and all ask for probation," the judge said, giving an example.

"A report comes back that three have a previous record and one person has no black marks. I put the one with no black marks on probation and sentenced the other three and was severly critized by the families," Judge Buzzard explained. "There is no real way to figure it out."

Judge Buzzard also discussed other duties of the court, including granting of auctioneer's licenses, preparing rules of conduct in the county jail, and approving the budget for the prosecuting attorney's office.

He was introduced by Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, vice president, who presided in the absence of George Hargraves, president.

Do 4 Lanes Make An Expressway, Or A Freeway?

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—What's the difference between a freeway and an expressway?

Dayton's City Hall claims there is a great deal of difference.

In fact, precise use of the two terms would put John J. Stemley out of a job.

Stemley is chief of the eight-man city bureau of expressways.

He's the first to admit, however, that Dayton doesn't have a full-fledged expressway yet. And only one is under construction.

Meanwhile, relocated U.S. 25 (also known as Interstate 75) and Ohio 4 — Dayton's newest super roadways—have been designated freeways.

It's explained that a freeway is a divided road with full control of access and no grade intersections.

Stemley admits, as a result of last week's decision to complete the U.S. 25 expressway—uh—freeway, his bureau has never been busier, call it what you may.

Pastor Will Speak At Geneva College Commencement

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. — Dr. E. Marcellus Nesbitt, pastor of the Park United Presbyterian Church in Beaver, will be the speaker at Aug. 12 commencement exercises ending Geneva College's 40th annual summer session. His topic will be "Short Cuts."

A native of Lawrence County near New Castle, Dr. Nesbitt was graduated from Westminster College in 1922 with a Bachelor of Theology degree. Westminster awarded him an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree in 1942. After teaching history for a year in junior high school, he entered the Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary, graduating in 1925.

He later became pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Columbus, Ohio, serving there for eight and a half years. While at the Columbus Church, he received a three-month leave of absence to travel through the Holy Land, Egypt and Europe.

Dr. Nesbitt then accepted the pastorate at the United Presbyterian Church of Greeley, Colo., and ministered there until 1941 when he became pastor at the Beaver Church.

CD Unit Appoints Activities Group

A new committee to plan activities was appointed at the meeting of the 2nd and 5th Platoons of the 31st Mobile Support Group of the Civilian Defense Tuesday night at the Glenmoor fire station.

Kenneth Long, 5th Platoon leader, presided and the committee consists of Dale Haney, Don Prescott, Bill Haney and Mrs. Pearl Long with John Vervin as chairman.

Mrs. Dorothy Lockhart was named leader of the mass feeding team, succeeding the late Mrs. Bernice Neilson, and Mrs. Doris Debolt will be assistant.

The police team discussed plans to assist at the Calcutta firemen's fair next week and will direct parking and traffic.

The group will meet at 8 p. m. Aug. 16 to make final plans for the picnic Aug. 28.

Cut 'Politics,' Senators Ask

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) said today he hopes the Senate will keep political grandstanding to a minimum and buckle down to serious work when it meets again Monday.

Case said most senators already have had a glorious opportunity to let off steam" at the Los Angeles and Chicago political conventions.

Another call for serious Senate action came Tuesday night from Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa). He asked for major changes in Senate rules to open the way for a hundred days" of action next year on Democratic proposals.

Clark said that during the post-convention session he will introduce rules changes to eliminate the filibuster, prevent time-wasting on irrelevant speeches and strip committee chairmen of much of their power to bottle up bills.

Clark's proposals obviously were too sweeping for a short session to handle. The House does not meet again until Aug. 15. Party leaders hope to wrap up the session by Labor Day.

Like Clark, Case aimed some of his fire at legislative logjams in committees.

"The House Rules Committee, dominated by Southern congressmen, has become the 'graveyard' of much needed legislation," Case said in a report to his New Jersey constituents. He said it has long blocked school aid, housing and other legislation.

Jury Ruling Links Cancer, Smoking

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Smoking is at least a factor in lung cancer, a federal jury has decided, but it refused to blame the cigarette maker.

The jury declined Tuesday to assess any damages against the American Tobacco Co. The estate of Edwin Green, who died of lung cancer, had asked more than one million dollars.

The plaintiff contended Green developed cancer of the left lung as a heavy smoker for 30 years of the firm's Lucky Strikes, with an occasional switch to other brands. Green, himself, started the suit before his death.

American Tobacco challenged lung cancer as cause of Green's death at age 49 in 1958. It also disputed that smoking causes cancer.

The jury found after eight hours deliberation that Green's smoking was "a proximate cause or one of the proximate causes of the development of cancer in his left lung."

It ruled, however, that the manufacturer could not be held responsible prior to the cancer diagnosis Feb. 1, 1956, for knowledge of any danger involved in smoking the cigarettes.

It was brought out in the trial that Green did not smoke again after the cancer diagnosis.

Fairview Youth Group Returns From Camp

Young people of the Fairview Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ohio Township have returned from a week-long participation in the Lake Erie Bible Conference Camp.

Accompanied by the Rev. George Stannard, pastor, the group included Miss Lois Dawson and Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, counselors: and Melvin Rowley, lifeguard, and Dale Carothers, Linda Chaffee, Frank Duncan, Robert Laughlin, Gloria Mihlbauer, William Rowley, Linda Steele and Ruth Ann Campbell, campers.

The trip was sponsored by the Pittsburgh Presbytery of the denomination.

Dayton Youth Drowns

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 13-year-old Dayton youth drowned Tuesday in a gravel pit within Dayton's city limits. Police said Andrew Bush was swimming with some other boys and suddenly disappeared.

Army Seeking Recovery Of 6 Bodies In '43 Bomber Crash

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Army investigators have gone into the Sierra Mountains to determine the feasibility of recovering the bodies of six airmen—two of them Ohioans — who perished in the crash of a B24 bomber 17 years ago.

The bomber vanished during a World War II training flight from Phoenix, Ariz., to Fresno, Calif. The wreckage was discovered last week by a state ranger.

Ohioans listed as aboard the plane were Lt. Charles W. Turvey of Reesville (Clinton County) and Sgt. Howard A. Wandpke, Toledo.

Fred Goerner, a radio newsman for KCBS, returned from the scene and reported the plane "looked like it had crashed yesterday. Paint and bright metal parts were like new.

"The condition of the bodies, severely mutilated as they were, still surpassed any embalming process known."

The crash occurred at the edge of one of the nation's highest lakes —11,246 feet above sea level.

Goerner, who went to the scene with aqualung diving specialist Bob Fisher, said: "The bomber bounced after hitting, and flipped possibly end over end a quarter to half a mile.

"Then it slammed down onto the ice - covered surface of the 600-yard-long lake and slid across the ice to smash into a rocky cliff at the other side where it disintegrated.

"The heavy part of the motor and fuselage slid back into the lake . . . about 50 feet deep.

"Wearing heavy weights, Bob dived and we located the fuselage intact and badly smashed.

"The crystal clear frigid water perfectly preserved both the plane and mutilated bodies of its occupants, some of which were found inside the fuselage."

County Party Heads Ponder Court Choices

Republican and Democratic party officials today are considering possible candidates to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Elmer T. Phillips on the 7th District Court of Appeals."

Party chairmen and secretaries from each of the 13 counties comprising the appellate court district form the committees which will select the candidates.

They are expected to meet within a few weeks, probably in Youngstown, to select candidates for the post, which will be filled at the Nov. 8 general election.

The law requires the party chairmen in the most populous county —in this case, Mahoning — to call the meetings with at least a majority attending before any action can be taken. A minimum of 14 must attend the meeting after which a decision of the majority will prevail.

The selections must be made by Aug. 24, 76 days before the general election.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is expected to name an interim appointee to serve until Judge Phillips' successor qualifies after the general election.

Steel Expects Lag In Upturn

NEW YORK (AP)—While the bottom in steel operations appears to have been reached, there are indications the autumn upturn may not be as strong as expected earlier, Iron Age Magazine said today.

Incoming orders," the metal-working weekly said, are coming out of the slump they entered two months ago. For the first time since 1958 incoming business just about matches steel output."

The publication said pressure from steel salesmen has resulted in more orders and better tonnages recently, but added, some of this is steel that normally would have been ordered later this month, or even in September and October.

In effect, mills are borrowing from future business. Consequently, there is a growing belief that the October peak will be lower than had been expected."

Iron Age said estimates on the year's steel production now range from 100 to 107 million tons. At the start of the year a record 125 to 130 million was predicted.

Youth, 13, Confesses Strangling 5-Year-Old

WHEELING, Ill. (AP)—Harold Dalibozak, 13, poised and calm, looked at the shallow grave where the strangled body of Betsy Benham, 5, had been found.

"I guess you're on to me," he told Sheriff Frank G. Sain Tuesday.

Harold then unfolded, Sain said, an amazing story of how, during a brief escape from Wheeling police, he had come across Betsy by chance Friday evening, sexually abused and strangled her and partly buried her body in a weedgrown field near her home.

The youth, son of a German immigrant, was charged with murder.

Castro Reported Moved For 'Rest'

HAVANA (AP) — Ailing Fidel Castro reportedly has moved out of his well-guarded suburban home to another well-guarded but more secluded resting place.

A source close to the Prime Minister said Castro had been persuaded to leave his residence to avoid well-wishers and the curious so he can get the complete rest his doctors have ordered.

It was unlikely there would be any official word on his whereabouts until Saturday, when he is scheduled to address the closing session of the Communist-accented Latin-American youth congress.

Rumors about Castro continued to fly fast and furiously. One that gained little credence was that he had flown secretly to Geneva for treatment of his ailment, which has been officially described as a lung infection.

Gordon, Dykes Exchange Jobs At Cleveland And Detroit

Indian Boss Replaced In Big Switch

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland baseball club announced today it has released Joe Gordon as field manager of the team and will hire Jimmy Dykes, now at Detroit.

Gordon will succeed Dykes as manager of the Tigers.

The announcement came while the team was in Washington.

A club spokesman said Dykes, who last year succeed Bill Norman, had been released by Detroit and has accepted the Cleveland job.

Gordon became the Tribe's manager in late June of 1958, succeeding Bobby Bragan.

Cleveland currently is in fourth place, seven games below the top rung, and Detroit is in sixth, 12½ games off the pace.

Senators Spoil Debut Of Tribe's Newcombe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Grant, who won 14 games in a row from the Washington Senators before his streak was stopped July 17, gets a chance to start a new skein against his American League "cousins" tonight.

The Cleveland right-hander, who has won six games and lost five, will oppose Jack Kralick (4-1) in the rubber game of the three-game series. Beaten Monday night, 3-0, the Senators came back with a 9-0 victory Tuesday night.

The shutout ruined Don Newcombe's debut for the Indians, who obtained him from Cincinnati last Friday.

Newcombe, a 27-game winner with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956, lasted only 1 2-3 innings in losing his first American League start. He gave up five hits and four runs, walked one batter and struck out one.

Camilo Pascual, the little Cuban curveball artist, struck out 11 batters and permitted only five hits in going the distance for the Senators. It was his first victory over the Indians since July 17, 1957. Prior to Tuesday night his lifetime mark against the Indians was 1-12.

Pascual, now 10-5 for the season, received powerful support from Harmon Killebrew, who knocked in four runs with two homers and a double.

Killebrew's first homer was off Newcombe in the first inning and his second as in the seventh off Barry Latman, who had hurled 4 1-3 scoreless innings. His double came in the eighth when the Senators put the game on ice with a four - run rally against Bobby Locke.

The Senators scored two runs in the first inning on Killebrew's 11th homer of the season following a walk to Reno Bertoia. They got two more in the second on four straight hits. Newcome was lifted after Jim Piersall hauled down Lenny Green's 400-foot drive to center field.

Washington loaded the bases in the eighth against Locke with two singles and a walk. Shortstop Mike de la Hoz then threw wild on a double play ball and two runs scored. A single by Green and Killebrew's double brought in two

Yanks Win Pair, Bounce Into First Place

Law Throws Five-Hitter To Blank LA

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just 10 weeks ago, irate St. Louisians were yelling for Solly Hemus' scalp. Today they're ready to challenge anyone who doesn't think he's the National League manager-of-the-year.

On May 19, the Cardinals were in seventh place and Hemus was a bum. After whipping the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday night 4-2, the Cardinals were in third place, only 4½ games off the pace, and Solly is a genius.

Hemus is neither a bum nor a genius. But he has proven himself to be a sound strategist and a fine handler of his players. His decision to play Bill White at first base, Curt Flood in center field and Stan Musial in left field, was a master stroke.

Since Hemus instituted his new alignment, the Cards have won 24 of 38 for a .684 percentage. Tuesday night's victory, behind Ernie Broglio's five-hitter, ran the Redbirds' latest winning streak to five.

Pittsburgh's league leaders boosted their margin over the runner-up Braves to three games with a 3-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Philadelphia stunned San Francisco by sweeping a doubleheader from the Giants 7-3 and 6-5 and Chicago's Cubs downed Cincinnati 5-3.

Broglio, the Cards' steadily improving right-hander, boosted his season record to 12-5 as he whipped the Braves for the fourth time in five tries. He hurled hitless ball the first five innings but tired in the eighth. Lindy McDaniel, the ace fireman, relieved superbly, striking out two of the last three batters in his 17th save.

Vern Law pitched the Pittsburgh shutout, yielding only five hits as he whipped the Dodgers for the fourth time. Stan Williams kept pace with him for six innings but a walk, a sacrifice, an error, a single by Bill Mazeroski and a double by Dick Groat gave Pittsburgh all its runs.

The seventh-place Phils not only dropped the fifth-place Giants seven full games off the pace but kayoed their rookie pitching sensation, Juan Marichal, in the seventh inning of the nightcap when the Phils scored three times to tie the score 5-5.

The Cubs, with Frank Thomas driving in a pair of runs with a single and his 16th home run against the Reds, put together a three-game winning streak for the first time this season.

Potters Gain Edge In Minor Loop Playoff

Potters Savings & Loan only need one victory to wrap up the Minor League championship after polishing off Knowles, 16-7 Tuesday in the first of the three game series to determine the Minor League champion.

Wellsville Minor Loop To Hold 'Tag Day'

The Wellsville Minor League will hold a "tag day" Saturday when players will canvass the business district. Players are asked to meet Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at Daw Junior High School. A prize will be given to the boy collecting the most money. On Aug. 14 the Minor League players will be taken to a baseball game in Cleveland. The next meeting for the league will be held Aug. 29.

The winners collected 10 hits off loser Dick Pattison. Rick Steffen was the winner and gave up eight safeties.

Ed Wrengartner belted three doubles and a single in a losing cause while Rick Steffen and Pridemore had three hits each for the winners.

The same two teams will meet Thursday.

College Stars Lose Tilt With Chicago Bears

RENSSALAER, Ind. (AP)—The College All-Stars got their first taste of professional football competition Tuesday. And it turned out to be a bitter 30-14 loss to the Chicago Bears in an exhibition game.

Four touchdown passes—two of which went for more than 50 yards—overpowered the All-Stars who meet the professional champion Baltimore Colts in Chicago's Soldier Field a week from Friday.

Led by quarterbacks Ed Brown and Zeke Bratkowski, the Bears scored the first three times they had the ball and held a 30-0 lead after three quarters.

The Stars clicked for a pair of touchdowns in the final period. Quarterback Don Meredith of Southern Methodist threw a 59-yard touchdown pass to Hugh McInnis of Mississippi Southern and later connected with a 10-yard scoring pass to Monte Sickles of Notre Dame.

Top Detroit Twice While Orioles Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Don Newcombe ever catches up with the guy who coined the phrase "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em," he'll give him a swift kick in the pants.

Big Newk tried that "join 'em" gag Tuesday night—and nearly got his brains beat in.

The erstwhile National League pitching star made his first American League start, as a brand new member of the Cleveland Indians, against Washington. The Senators blasted him out of the box in two innings and went on to win 9-0.

When Big Newk was a Brooklyn Dodger, he was truly a great pitcher. But against the American League, he was a dud, losing all five decisions over a period of eight years. One was an All-Star defeat. The others were World Series losses to the Yankees.

Washington scored twice in each of the first two innings and Camilo Pascual went on to toss a five-hitter, striking out 11 to snap the Senators' four-game losing streak.

The Yankees burst into a full game lead over Chicago in the battle for first place by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from Detroit by 3-2 scores as Baltimore was thrashing the White Sox 6-2. Kansas City downed Boston 10-4 to climb to within .002 percentage points of the seventh-place Red Sox.

A dramatic 10th inning homer by pinch-hitter Bob Cerv, following Roger Maris' two-run homer that tied the score 2-2 in the ninth, gave the Yankees their uphill victory in the night half of the twin bill. The first affair also went into overtime, the Yankees winning in the 14th on John Blanchard's single with the bases full and two out.

Hard luck Jim Bunning, who had lost three in a row and had not been given a run by his teammates during a 20-inning stretch, had a two-hit, 11-strikeout shutout until the ninth. He walked leadoff hitter Bobby Richardson and complained of an arm strain after serving two balls to Mickey Mantle. Bill Fischer took over and threw the home run ball to Maris. Bob Bruce served up Cerv's game-winning homer.

Gus Triandos smashed a three-run homer, rookie shortstop Ron Hansen rapped three hits and Steve Barber, 21, hurled a nine-hitter as Baltimore made it two in a row over the White Sox and 10 of 17 for the season. Billy Pierce was the loser.

Norm Siebern walloped a pair of homers and drove in five runs to lead the Athletics to their second straight victory over the Red Sox. Ray Herbert had a seven-hit shutout going into the ninth but faltered in the ninth, yielding two-run homers to Vic Wertz and Frank Malzone. It was his seventh victory in 17 decisions.

This is the 37th year in which the New York Yankees have hit 100 or more home runs.

Gordon, Dykes Exchange Jobs At Cleveland And Detroit

Indian Boss Replaced In Big Switch

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland baseball club announced today it has released Joe Gordon as field manager of the team and will hire Jimmy Dykes, now at Detroit.

Gordon will succeed Dykes as manager of the Tigers.

The announcement came while the team was in Washington.

A club spokesman said Dykes, who last year succeed Bill Norman, had been released by Detroit and has accepted the Cleveland job.

Gordon became the Tribe's manager in late June of 1958, succeeding Bobby Bragan.

Senators Spoil Debut Of Tribe's Newcombe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Grant, who won 14 games in a row from the Washington Senators before his streak was stopped July 17, gets a chance to start a new skein against his American League "cousins" tonight.

The Cleveland right-hander, who has won six games and lost five, will oppose Jack Kralick (4-1) in the rubber game of the three-game series. Beaten Monday night, 3-0, the Senators came back with a 9-0 victory Tuesday night.

The shutout ruined Don Newcombe's debut for the Indians, who obtained him from Cincinnati last Friday.

Newcombe, a 27-game winner with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956, lasted only 1 2-3 innings in losing his first American League start. He gave up five hits and four runs, walked one batter and struck out one.

Camilo Pascual, the little Cuban curveball artist, struck out 11 batters and permitted only five hits in going the distance for the Senators. It was his first victory over the Indians since July 17, 1957. Prior to Tuesday night his lifetime mark against the Indians was 1-12.

Pascual, now 10-5 for the season, received powerful support from Harmon Killebrew, who knocked in four runs with two homers and a double.

Killebrew's first homer was off Newcombe in the first inning and his second as in the seventh off Barry Latman, who had hurled 4 1-3 scoreless innings. His double came in the eighth when the Senators put the game on ice with a four - run rally against Bobby Locke.

The Senators scored two runs in the first inning on Killebrew's 11th homer of the season following a walk to Reno Bertoia. They got two more in the second on four straight hits. Newcome was lifted after Jim Piersall hauled down Lenny Green's 400-foot drive to center field.

Washington loaded the bases in the eighth against Locke with two singles and a walk. Shortstop Mike de la Hoz then threw wild on a double play ball and two runs scored. A single by Green and Killebrew's double brought in two

Law Throws Five-Hitter To Blank LA

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just 10 weeks ago, irate St. Louisians were yelling for Solly Hemus' scalp. Today they're ready to challenge anyone who doesn't think he's the National League manager-of-the-year.

On May 19, the Cardinals were in seventh place and Hemus was a bum. After whipping the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday night 4-2, the Cardinals were in third place, only 4½ games off the pace, and Solly is a genius.

Hemus is neither a bum nor a genius. But he has proven himself to be a sound strategist and a fine handler of his players. His decision to play Bill White at first base, Curt Flood in center field and Stan Musial in left field, was a master stroke.

Since Hemus instituted his new alignment, the Cards have won 24 of 38 for a .684 percentage. Tuesday night's victory, behind Ernie Broglio's five-hitter, ran the Redbirds' latest winning streak to five.

Pittsburgh's league leaders boosted their margin over the runner-up Braves to three games with a 3-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Philadelphia stunned San Francisco by sweeping a doubleheader from the Giants 7-3 and 6-5 and Chicago's Cubs downed Cincinnati 5-3.

Broglio, the Cards' steadily improving right-hander, boosted his season record to 12-5 as he whipped the Braves for the fourth time in five tries. He hurled hitless ball the first five innings but tired in the eighth. Lindy McDaniel, the ace fireman, relieved superbly, striking out two of the last three batters in his 17th save.

Vern Law pitched the Pittsburgh shutout, yielding only five hits as he whipped the Dodgers for the fourth time. Stan Williams kept pace with him for six innings but a walk, a sacrifice, an error, a single by Bill Mazeroski and a double by Dick Groat gave Pittsburgh all its runs.

The seventh-place Phils not only dropped the fifth-place Giants seven full games off the pace but kayoed their rookie pitching sensation, Juan Marichal, in the seventh inning of the nightcap when the Phils scored three times to tie the score 5-5.

The Cubs, with Frank Thomas driving in a pair of runs with a single and his 16th home run against the Reds, put together a three-game winning streak for the first time this season.

The Wellsville Minor League will hold a "tag day" Saturday when players will canvass the business district. Players are asked to meet Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at Daw Junior High School. A prize will be given to the boy collecting the most money. On Aug. 14 the Minor League players will be taken to a baseball game in Cleveland. The next meeting for the league will be held Aug. 29.

The winners collected 10 hits off loser Dick Pattison. Rick Steffen was the winner and gave up eight safeties.

Ed Wrengartner belted three doubles and a single in a losing cause while Rick Steffen and Pridemore had three hits each for the winners.

The same two teams will meet Thursday.

College Stars Lose Tilt With Chicago Bears

RENSSALAER, Ind. (AP)—The College All-Stars got their first taste of professional football competition Tuesday. And it turned out to be a bitter 30-14 loss to the Chicago Bears in an exhibition game.

Four touchdown passes—two of which went for more than 50 yards—overpowered the All-Stars who meet the professional champion Baltimore Colts in Chicago's Soldier Field a week from Friday.

Led by quarterbacks Ed Brown and Zeke Bratkowski, the Bears scored the first three times they had the ball and held a 30-0 lead after three quarters.

The Stars clicked for a pair of touchdowns in the final period. Quarterback Don Meredith of Southern Methodist threw a 59-yard touchdown pass to Hugh McInnis of Mississippi Southern and later connected with a 10-yard scoring pass to Monte Sickles of Notre Dame.

Top Detroit Twice While Orioles Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Don Newcombe ever catches up with the guy who coined the phrase "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em," he'll give him a swift kick in the pants.

Big Newk tried that "join 'em" gag Tuesday night—and nearly got his brains beat in.

The erstwhile National League pitching star made his first American League start, as a brand new member of the Cleveland Indians, against Washington. The Senators blasted him out of the box in two innings and went on to win 9-0.

When Big Newk was a Brooklyn Dodger, he was truly a great pitcher. But against the American League, he was a dud, losing all five decisions over a period of eight years. One was an All-Star defeat. The others were World Series losses to the Yankees.

Washington scored twice in each of the first two innings and Camilo Pascual went on to toss a five-hitter, striking out 11 to snap the Senators' four-game losing streak.

The Yankees burst into a full game lead over Chicago in the battle for first place by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from Detroit by 3-2 scores as Baltimore was thrashing the White Sox 6-2. Kansas City downed Boston 10-4 to climb to within .002 percentage points of the seventh-place Red Sox.

A dramatic 10th inning homer by pinch-hitter Bob Cerv, following Roger Maris' two-run homer that tied the score 2-2 in the ninth, gave the Yankees their uphill victory in the night half of the twin bill. The first affair also went into overtime, the Yankees winning in the 14th on John Blanchard's single with the bases full and two out.

Hard luck Jim Bunning, who had lost three in a row and had not been given a run by his teammates during a 20-inning stretch, had a two-hit, 11-strikeout shutout until the ninth. He walked leadoff hitter Bobby Richardson and complained of an arm strain after serving two balls to Mickey Mantle. Bill Fischer took over and threw the home run ball to Maris. Bob Bruce served up Cerv's game-winning homer.

Gus Triandos smashed a three-run homer, rookie shortstop Ron Hansen rapped three hits and Steve Barber, 21, hurled a nine-hitter as Baltimore made it two in a row over the White Sox and 10 of 17 for the season. Billy Pierce was the loser.

Norm Siebern walloped a pair of homers and drove in five runs to lead the Athletics to their second straight victory over the Red Sox. Ray Herbert had a seven-hit shutout going into the ninth but faltered in the ninth, yielding two-run homers to Vic Wertz and Frank Malzone. It was his seventh victory in 17 decisions.

This is the 37th year in which the New York Yankees have hit 100 or more home runs.

Continental League Is Dead, But Majors Plan To Expand

10-Team Loop Proposed For Two Circuits

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The Continental League is dead. But the dream of a vigorous New York attorney and an aging baseball executive did not pass without forcing the major leagues to expand from eight to ten teams.

The decision to expand was made Tuesday at a joint meeting between the Continental League and the expansion committee of the American and National leagues.

Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers and chairman of the National League's expansion committee made the announcement that all three leagues had unanimously agreed that four teams from the Continental League would be asborbed by the American and National leagues.

While O'Malley was relating that the suggestion was made by Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves, attorney Bill Shea, founder of the Continental League, and Branch Rickey, 79, its president nodded in agreement.

O'Malley said there had been no discussions as to which teams would be selected by which league but added "we immediately will recommend expansion and we would like to do it by 1961."

Speculation was that New York and Minneapolis-St. Paul would become major league cities along with a Texas team.

"The Continental League unanimously accepts the proposal outlined by Mr. Perini," said Rickey. "Four of the clubs will be taken by the American League and the National League. Another four clubs can be taken subsequently, within a reasonable amount of time, which has not been stated."

In the eventuality of adding an additional four teams, major league baseball probably would be broken down into three eight-team leagues.

O'Malley, acting as spokesman for the American and National leagues, said he expected the two leagues to meet jointly within a month to iron out necessary details of expansion.

So ended a three-year war initiated by Shea after O'Malley had spearheaded a drive which moved the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants to Los Angeles and San Francisco in 1957.

This move left New York without a National League baseball club and Shea, heading a committee to regain a second major league team for New York, confronted the majors with a proposal to expand. It was turned down.

Left no other alternative, Shea began working on a third league and the Continental came into official being June 27, 1959.

The end came Tuesday when O'Malley finished making his announcement.

Rickey, asked if this move meant the end of the Continental League, answered "obviously."

In New York, Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick expressed pleasure in the manner in which the expansion problem has been solved.

"I always have been in favor of expansion," said Frick, "and I am happy that the move has been made peacefully."

CONTINENTAL LEAGUE officials, shown meeting with officials of the American and National Leagues Tuesday in Chicago, unanimously accepted the expansion plan of the latter two leagues to increase each league by two teams. Continental League officials are left-to-right Jack Cooke, Toronto, Canada, William Shea, New York and Branch Rickey, league president. (UPI Telephoto)

Buffalo Clings To Third Place

By The Associated Press

The Buffalo Bisons still are tied for third place in the International League, thanks to a guy who had been hitless in 13 at bats.

Bobby Balcena broke the slump with a pinch-single that triggered the Herd's comeback from a four-run deficit, then stayed in the game and beat Jersey City 8-7 in 10 innings Tuesday night with a two-out double—his third consecutive hit.

That kept Buffalo deadlocked with Rochester. The Red Wings won their third in a row, 4-3 over last place Miami. Second place Richmond remained 11 games behind idle Toronto with a split at Montreal. The Vees lost 4-0 to Nels Chittum's three-hit pitching, then walloped four home runs, two by Leroy Thomas that drove in six runs, for an 11-10 decision in the nightcap.

Control, Conditioning, Luck Are Law's Secrets

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Control, conditioning and a lot of luck."

That's how right-hander Vern Law of the Pittsburgh Pirates says he's taken over as the major league's winningest pitcher.

"I've been getting all the breaks and I've had great team support," Law reflected Tuesday night after hurling his 14th win of the season, a nifty five-hit 3-0 shutout over the Los Angeles Dodgers. It was the fourth time he's beaten the Dodgers this year.

"When you shut out the Dodgers and beat a guy like Stan Williams, you just have to say it was a great game."

The Deacon was high in praise of the fine support he has been getting from his teammates.

"You gotta have them play good ball behind you if you want to win. No one spells team with an 'I.' The guys have been giving me great offensive and defensive help. Without it I'd be nothing."

Law said conditioning and control played an important part in his victories.

"If I can put the ball where I want it, by golly I usually do okay," he said. "If I don't have pinpoint control, then I'm in trouble."

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

Since "dog days" have set in, it seems that fishing is running true to form...very poor.

Most of the fishermen at Lake Guilford are carp fishermen, but even they have had trouble. The main reason why carp fishing is so popular at Guilford is primarily because the carp run big. It is not uncommon to see four or five on a stringer from 24 to 36 inches in length.

Last week I mentioned about the 23-inch chain pickerel that was taken in the test net at Zepernick's. Although I was on shore when one of the boys held it up and pronounced it a chain pickerel, Danny Armbruster, the fish management supervisor, told his helpers to take a better look next time as it might be a northern pike.

The same fish was taken the next day in the same net. It was fin-clipped before being released the first time so it was recognized when retaken. It was a northern pike, just one that got mixed in with the pickerel by accident at the hatchery.

I HAVE mentioned before that 'coon hunters running their dogs at night this time of the year are exercising poor judgment and doing a great damage to farmer-sportsmen relations.

People like to sleep at night and a baying hound is not "music" for a tired farmer and his family trying to get the proper rest before beginning work at daylight. Remember, people sleep with their windows open during warm weather!

Running hounds may be done without violating a game law.

On the other hand, making the farmer sore is probably worse than violating a game law. If you must run your hounds, get permission first. This will hold down complaints.

IN OHIO, we recognize a licensed boat from any other state for a period of 90 days. In other words, they do not have to buy an Ohio license.

Recently a group of fishermen took their boats with Ohio licenses into Pennsylvania and some authority there told them to leave immediately, buy Pennsylvania licenses, or be arrested. There were about a dozen boats in the group so the suggestion was made to arrest any one of them. The officer said if he arrested one he would have to arrest them all.

What they wanted was a test case to find out if there are any reciprocal rights or mutual benefits between Ohio and Pennsylvania. This will be taken up with Ohio state officials to learn if we are going to recognize Pennsylvania licenses while Ohioans boating in Pennsylvania are subjected to arrest. Either something is wrong or there's a misunderstanding.

Error Leads To Cincy's 5-3 Loss To Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Maloney is being initiated quickly into the society of Cincinnati Reds pitchers who are victims of few runs—lot of errors performances by teammates.

It's true, the 20-year-old Maloney was knocked out of the box by the Chicago Cubs Tuesday as the Bruins won, 5-3, but it was an error that helped open the floodgates.

At the time Maloney bowed out in the sixth his teammates had given him only one run. He didn't get any in seven innings of work in his major league debut at Los Angeles last week.

It could be a mite discouraging. The error that Cliff Cook committed in the Cubs' four-run sixth inning was the 29th by Cincinnati in a string of 17 consecutive games in which the team has made at least one miscue.

Maloney allowed only three hits through the first five innings and the only damaging blow was Frank Thomas' mighty home run in the fifth. That tied the count at 1-1 but the game fell apart in the sixth.

Bob Will opened with a bloop single. Cook speared Richie Ashburn's line drive but threw into the Cub dugout in an effort to double Will. Will went to third and then came a double by Ernie Banks, a single by George Altman and a walk to Ron Santo. Those accounted for two runs and brought Joe Nuxhall to the mound.

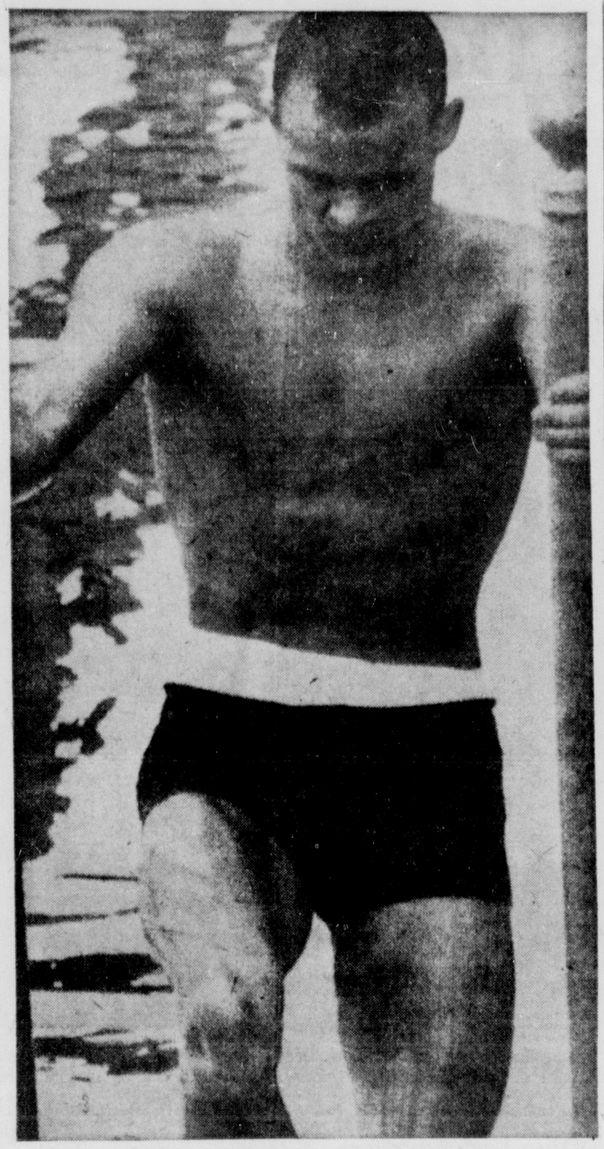

The Cubs quickly rapped Nuxhall for two more singles and two more runs.

The Reds got their first run in the fourth on a single by Gus Bell and a double by Ed Bailey. They never bothered Bob Anderson again until the eighth when Bell homered.

The Cincinnatians finally threw a real scare into the Cubs in the ninth and the Bruins had to send Don Elston and then Seth Morehead to the mound.

Ed Bailey and pinch hitter Frank Robinson singled. Wally Post and Billy Martin then walked to force in one run before Morehead succeeded in getting the side out.

Jim O'Toole and Jay Hook were scheduled to pitch for Cincinnati in today's doubleheader with Glenn Hobbie and Dick Ellsworth working for Chicago.

JEFF FARRELL of Wichita, Kansas, his stomach heavily bandaged with white tape, emerges from the pool after winning a 100-meter freestyle heat of the U.S. Olympic swim trials Tuesday in Detroit. An emergency appendectomy was performed on Farrell only a week ago on July 27, leaving some doubt that Farrell would be able to make the trials. He won the heat in :55.9 which is a 1.1 second slower than his American record. (UPI Telephoto)

Swimmer Shows Sheer Courage In Making Olympics

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP) — The United States grabbed a brand new lease on Olympic life today, and all because a slender swimmer who refused to be counted out did what the experts said was impossible.

Jeff Farrell, a 23-year-old sprinter with staggering determination, gave this country renewed hope for three gold meadals in the Rome Games later this summer.

Seven days ago he underwent an emergency appendectomy and no one figured the American freestyle spring champion could compete in the Olympic trials at Brennan Pools.

But in an outstanding show of both physical recovery and what Olympic Swim Coach Gus Stager called just plain guts," Farrell Tuesday put himself in line for a place on the Olympic team.

He won his preliminary heat of the 100-meters freestyle in :55.9 to qualify for the semifinal against 15 other sprinters. He wae three-tenths of a second better a few hours later in the semifinals—and none of the others could match his time.

The handsome Kansan, who did his college swimming in Oklahoma—and could not win a national title in collegiate competition—bouyed U.S.A. hopes 10 days ago when he set American records in both the 200-meter sprints in the AAU outdoor meet.

Should Farrell fail tonight, he still can make the team by finishing in the first six in the 200-meter freestyle later in the four-day trials.

The packed Brennan Pools gallery was whooping it up for Farrell, whose gritty performance outshone the nation's first two Olympic trial winners.

Sam Hall of Ohio State University and Gary Tobian of Los Angeles took the top spots in the three-meters springboard diving.

Hall, latest in a long line of champions turned out by Mike Peppe, was an overwhelming winner. Tobian made it with an uphill fight.

Hank Clashes With Ellis On TV Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Busy Henry Hank, hopefully battling towards a shot at the middleweight championship, takes on Ruddy Ellis of Chicago in a 10-round Chicago Stadium bout tonight.

The 25-year-old Detroiter will be making his seventh start this year. He won five of his previous six bouts.

Hank, ranked fourth in his division, lost a decision in New Orleans to Hank Casey last May but has scored knockouts over Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis, Sixto Rodriquez of Cuba, Rory Calhoun of New York and Victor Zalazar of Cuba.

Hank's record of 44 victories includes 32 knockouts. One of his victims was Ellis whom Hank stopped in four rounds in 1958 while piling up a string of eight successive knockout triumphs. Hank has lost 11 since turning professional in 1953.

The battle between the two middleweights will be televised nationally (ABC—9 p.m. EST).

A Turn-To Standout

NEW YORK (AP) — When Patrice Jacobs' Hail to Reason won the Great American Stakes at Aqueduct the 2-year-old brown colt ran his earnings to $65,958 for his first 13 races. The Turn-to colt won five of his first 13 starts.

McClung Out Several Days

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Tackle Willie McClung, who suffered a knee injury in a collision with Fred Murphy Monday, was not in uniform during the Cleveland Browns' practice sessions Tuesday. He is expected to be out of action several days.

Murphy, who was knocked out for a few moments, was able to work out.

The Browns asked waivers on Jim Gardner, guard from Duke University. If he is not picked up in the next 48 hours he will try to join the Buffalo club of the new American Football League.

It was announced that Bob Long, a linebacker obtained in a recent trade with the Detroit Lions, has agreed to terms via telephone and is expected to join the Browns today.

The former U.C.L.A. star had said he would sit out his option and join an American League team next season, but changed his mind after a Texas judge enjoined Jimmy Harris from doing the same thing.

Liston Moves Up In Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — Sonny Liston's three-round knockout of Zora Folley July 18 moved the Philadelphia belter into the top challenger's position behind Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson in the monthly Ring Magazine ratings released today. Liston also was named "fighter of the month."

His setback by Liston in Denver dropped Folley into fourth place. Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., advanced to second and Ingemar Johansson, the former titleholder from Sweden, climbed to third.

Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, victor over Welshman Dick Richardson, moved into the No. 6 spot among the big boys and Bob Cleroux of Montreal, kayo conqueror of Roy Harris, gained ninth place.

Ex-welter weight King Virgil Akins of St. Louis was dropped from the first 10. He was replaced by Emile Griffith of New York. Ralph Dupas of New Orleans zoomed into third place among the 147-pounders.

Don Jordan's loss to Denny Moyer dropped the former welter king from Los Angeles down to fifth while Moyer, from Portland, Ore. advanced to fourth.

Veteran Cisco Andrade of Compton, Calif., by his stunning knockout of Battling Torres of Mexico, regained a place among the lightweights, taking over sixth. Torres was dropped to seventh.

34-Inch Carp Caught By East Liverpool Man

William Bolton, 1110 St. Clair Ave., is claiming one of the largest carp to be caught in Guilford Lake.

The fish measures 34 inches and weighs close to 15 pound. It was caught near Whinery's Landing, last week.

Fishing with Bolton were Bob Moore of Pittsburgh, Ray Whinery and C. D. Thomas of East Liverpool.

Harry Craft, Chicago Cub coach, broke into organized ball with Monessen, Pa., in 1935.

Six Night Games Set

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP) — Hofstra College will play six of its nine football games at night next fall. The Flying Dutchmen open the season under lights at Scranton, Pa., on Sept. 24. Upsala, Bridgeport, C. W. Post, Temple, Delaware, Gettysburg, Springfield and Kings Point will be met on successive Saturday.

Patterson Storms Over Actions By Fight Promoter

NEW YORK (AP)—Peeved because he said he had not been consulted about the date, Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson indicated today he would not fight Ingemar Johansson of Nov. 1 in Los Angeles.

Patterson said he learned the date of his third title bout with Johansson from a gas station attendant who had heard it on the radio.

You'd think that since I'm the champion the promoters (Feature Sports, Inc.) would be polite enought to ask me," the champ said. "I might fight Johansson before Nov.1 or after Nov.1, but I'll not fight him on Nov. 1."

Coach Bill Burwell of the Pittsburgh Pirates won his only National League decision — with the Pirates — in 1928. He had an 8-8 pitching record with the St. Louis Browns.

Pole Vault Star Dies In Headon Collision

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP)—Handsome Bob Gutowski, 25, cinderella-like hero of the 1956 Olympics and official world pole vault record holder, was killed in a head-on auto collision Tuesday.

The modest silver medal winner at Melbourne died instantly in the wreck at this Southern California Marine Corps base. Officials said Gutowski, a Marine lieutenant, was driving to his home on the base when a car on the wrong side of the street slammed into his auto. The driver of the other car, also a Marine, was killed.

In 1957, Gutowski sailed 15 feet 8¼ inches to beat Cornelius Warmerdam's mark of 15-7¾ that had stood for 15 years.

Gutowski's record was bettered last month by Don Bragg, who vaulted 15-9¼ in the Olympic trials at Palo Alto, Calif. Gutowski, bothered all season by leg injuries, failed to make the team.

Characteristically, he made another bid for an Olympic berth in the gruelling 10-event decathlon, but finished well down the list.

BOB GUTOWSKI
Killed In Auto Crash.

"As far as I'm conernced he's still the world record holder," said an emotion-choked Bragg, whose pending record probably will erase Gutowski's from the record books.

Bragg referred to Gutowski's magnificent vault of 15-9¾ in 1957 that was rejected as a record because his pole was wind-blown back into the sawdust pit.

Ex-Champs Find Going Tough In Archery Finals

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—The defending champions in the National Open Target Archery Tournament have some ground to make up if they are to retain their titles in the three-day shoot.

Wilbert Vetrovsky of Cleveland, the 1959 men's champion, could do no better than sixth in Tuesday's two opening rounds. Carole Meinhart of Pittsburgh, four-time women's champion, was back in fourth place after the first two rounds.

The tournament continues through Thursday.

Jim Mackey of Bradford, Pa., grabbed the lead in the men's division in two York rounds with a total of 960.

In the York rounds the contestants shoot 144 arrows at targets with 72 of them being fired from 100 yards, 48 from 80 yards and 24 from 60 yards.

The women fired National and Columbia rounds and Margaret Tillbury of Springfield, Ohio, tied the record in the National with a 578 and led the field after two rounds with a total of 1190. She had 612 in the Columbia.

The National round calls for 48 arrows to be shot at the targets with 24 from 60 yards and 24 from 40 yards. Columbia competition is a 72-arrow event with 24 being shot from each 50, 40 and 30 yards.

First Blue Marlin

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Virginia's first blue marlin, a 10 - footer weighing over 250 pounds, was caught by Al Noyes, of Portsmouth, some 55 miles off Virginia Beach. They have been catching the big fish off North Carolina's coast to the south for some time. Virginians, trying to get them at home, have sighted several but Noyes was the first to score.

Court Clears Aide In Election Probe

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Testimony Tuesday before Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Battisti cleared Jack Sulligan, who was removed as deputy clerk of the Mahoning County Board of Elections in the wake of a state investigation of the breakdown of 400 voting machines.

Philip Rogers, clerk of the board, testified that Sulligan had nothing to do with setting up the machines, which broke down in the May primary election.

Judge Battisti said he would rule within a month on the question of whether the board should have fired Sulligan, Democratic chief here.

Sulligan brought suit against the board, claiming he was removed without cause or reason, contrary to law.

Rogers succeeded Bryon Wade, who resigned after Secretary of State Ted Brown threatened to remove the board if the clerk did not quit.

Adam Chestney, chairman of the Board of Elections, testified that he voted to fire Sulligan because he thought the alternative was Brown's threat to fire the entire board, including employes.

Brave Bull Balks, Bolting Butcher's Bullet 'Barrages'

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—This is a lot of bull. The animal, that is. Not the story.

The story is this:

Fred Henry of nearby Terrace Heights sold a bull to a Cambridge butcher. The butcher went to the farm to kill the bull and fired one shot into the animal's head. Bull's-eye, you might say.

But the bull failed to drop. Instead it took off across a field and crashed through a barbed wire fence, followed by four heifers.

That was Monday. Tuesday the bull showed up at the farm again, and six or seven more shots were fired at it. Still it did not drop. The bull raced away again and was last reported in a thicket about two miles east of here.

Now it's a fugitive from justice. Police with high-powered rifles were still looking for the animal today, trying to kill it before it endangers lives and property.

8 Teen-Agers Penalized For 'Beer Party'

LISBON — A youth was sentenced to the Boys Industrial School, another was ordered confined in the detention room in county jail and six girls, 14 through 17, were turned over to the County Welfare Department after a hearing Tuesday afternoon before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on charges arising out of a beer drinking party July 16, at the Twin Truck Stop, just north of Salineville on Routes 39 and 164.

Kelly Howard, 17, of Salineville R. D. was sentenced to the industrial school, until he becomes of age, after Judge Tobin learned that he obtained a driver's license and had been operating an auto although on probation.

Howard was on probation from Juvenile Court since February after he was involved in an accident in which his car collided with another, injuring the two occupants severely. At that time Judge Tobin told him not to apply for a license until he was 18. He was also involved at the dance and party at the truck stop.

A 16-year-old Salineville youth was sentenced to the detention room after Judge Tobin said he perjured himself under oath at the hearing.

The six girls were present sometime during the evening when it was alleged that beer was consumed at the dance by adults and some of the juveniles.

Ten other juveniles from Salineville and vicinity, two who had been ordered to appear yesterday but failed to show up, and 6 adults who did not appear at the hearing, and 8 others will be cited to appear Aug. 11. One adult was in court yesterday but his testimony was not taken and he will return Aug. 11, Judge Tobin said.

The court said Norman Butler of Salineville, owner of the truck stop, will be cited for contributing to the delinquency of minors and holding public dances without a permit from Juvenile Court.

Deputies said he is being hospitalized at present.

3 Miami Men Charged In Doctor's Extortion

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Three hoodlums accused of terrorizing a retired doctor with threats to kidnap and kill his son are in police custody after grabbing a bag of garbage which they thought was $1,000 worth of extortion money.

At a lineup Tuesday, Dr. Nathan H. Rappaport and his son Michael, 15, identified the three men who robbed them of $1,350 Saturday night and then hounded them over the weekend for more money.

Roy K. Finney, 27, Herb Checchi, 31, and Lionel Wiles, 25, all of Miami, were charged with extortion. Finney and Checchi also were charged with armed robbery.

Rappaport said Finney and Checchi forced their way into his house at gunpoint Saturday night and took $1,350. Wiles, police said, waited in a car outside.

18-Ton Yacht Keels

NEW YORK (AP) — Following an inquiry by Alan Payne, Australian designer of the prospective America's Cup challenger in 1962, both the New York Yacht Club and the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron have ruled that metals heavier than lead are prohibited for the keels of America's cup boats. The keel of a 12 meter weighs about 36,000 pounds.

State Farm Cuts To Take 'Years'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's mental hospitals are giving up farming, all right, but officials say it will take a long time.

Since Gov. Michael V. DiSalle announced July 21 that he was directing the institutions to discontinue farm operations, the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has been receiving offers from individuals and groups who want to buy the land.

Department officials say these persons apparently have the mistaken impression that all farming will halt immediately at Ohio's mental hospitals.

Not so, said Dr. Robert A. Haines, the department director: We are studying the possibility of eliminating farms operated on the grounds of mental hospitals, but it will be several years before this can be accomplished."

The only immediate step, a department public relations spokesman said, is the closing out of farming operations at the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware in September. And Toledo State Hospital's dairy herd is being taken to Marion Correctional Institution.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This question is so personal we wouldn't think of discussing it with anyone we know.

We are planning to marry in the fall. I'm 22, Jim is 24. We are college educated, and we've both been around a good deal. We believe a good life doesn't just happen—it is planned. We have a rather unique plan of our own.

We don't want the best years of our lives cluttered up with bills for straightening kids' teeth and the numerous inconveniences that come with having a family. We want to work together, travel together and have a good time while we're young enough to enjoy it.

After we've been married about 20 years and are ready to settle down, then we'll have a couple of kids. We figure we'll be more mature and therefore better parents. Do you think such a plan is workable? Would you okay it?—NO SIG.

Dear No Sig: Whether or not you get my okay is not important. Mother Nature is the girl whose okay you'll need.

If you think a woman past 40 need only whistle and the stork will come flying with a bundle from heaven, I have news—it doesn't always work this way.

Even if Nature cooperated, the emotional strain of rearing a family is more difficult for a woman in her 40s than in her 20s.

If it's advice you want, I say have your family when you're young and take those trips later—when you've earned the rest.

Woof, Woof!

Dear Ann: You recently printed a letter from a mother of four sons. She said the young girls today are aggressive, that they chase after her sons, call them on the phone, drive to their home and park in front for hours.

You didn't help matters any by suggesting the mothers of young girls are to blame for their shameless behavior.

It so happens I have four daughters. The oldest is 18, the youngest is 14. They are perfect ladies and wouldn't dream of doing any of the things this mother wrote about. I think you owe me an apology. —NOT GUILTY.

-:-

Dear Not Guilty: There's an old saying that if you throw a stone into a pack of dogs the one is hit barks. How come I heard from you?

Three Strikes And Out

Dear Ann: My father has a set of season tickets to the ball games. Dad and Mom have lots of social plans so I usually get the tickets.

I like a fellow I'll call Bruce. I've taken him to three games this season. Now he expects it. I wouldn't mind except that he never asks me out when he has to spend money. A week ago his club had a big affair and he took another girl.

I like him better than anyone but I don't want to be a chump. Shall I tell him how I feel?—LOU.

Dear Lou: Tell him what—that if he doesn't take you out you're not going to treat him to any future ball games? If you must clobber him into asking you for a date, what good is it?

Don't invite Bruce to any more games until he shows some initiative. He's taking you for granted and this puts the dead hand on romance.

Poor Richard

Dear Ann: Recently you told a young lady three can keep a secret if one of them is dead.

If you will check Poor Richard's Almanac you'll find the accurate quote is Two can keep a secret if one is dead."—SAM.

-:-

Dear Sam: I didn't realize I was filching from Poor Richard. Changing the odds is unforgivable, and I apologize. Thanks for letting me know—Poor Ann.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pilot Ejection Proves Successful In Testing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—North American Aviation said the first successful firing of the A3J Vigilante's new pilot ejection parachute system at ground level was accomplished at Port Columbus Airport Tuesday.

A dummy was ejected from the rear cockpit of the Navy jet plane as it zoomed along the runway at a take-off speed of about 115 m.p.h. The dummy rose 135 feet in the air, then descended gently to earth beneath a parachute. Only recently have systems been developed to eject a pilot safely from an airplane on the ground or flying at a very low altitude.

'Bargain' Calories Aid Overweights

The challenge of reducing with an overweight pal can lift dieting right out of the humdrum. The prospects of mailing the weekly scales ticket, or checking the scales with your reducing mate or with a telephone pal quickens your interest and adds a fillip of fun.

By Ida Jean Kain

Dieters, in your haste to be the better loser, don't overlook the ultimate aim of the game...to banish the burden of fat and live happily slim ever after.

This real life story of two dieters may help you to steer the right course. Two women set out to reduce together. They both weighed in at 170 pounds. One friend rejected the scientific reducing diet, and chose faddy type fare which promised fast results.

But her friend decided in favor of the protective diet which allowed for more moderate rate of losing.

RESULTS, ONE year later: The scientific dieter weighed 125 pounds, her right weight. She had changed her food habits for good and held the weight line. The faddy dieter, despite repeated attempts at reducing, weighed 170 pounds.

Friends, there are hundreds of reducing diets, all promising to make you thin in a hurry. Don't fall for faddy fare or try diet shennanigans. All bizarre methods invariably fail. Diets that do nothing to change your food habits ignore the real issue — weight control.

There is nothing mysterious about planning adequate reducing menus. Each meal is built around a high value protein food and the day's meals include normal and even abundant amounts of the protective nutrients. Scientific piecemealing helps you through the late afternoon zero hour. On such menus you can lose two to three pounds a week, keep your esprit, and look and feel years younger.

The "bargain" calories are those which furnish superior sources of essential nutrients. Even though you are calling on stored fat for part of your fuel needs, your requirements for specific amounts of vital repair nutrients do not change.

These protective foods which furnish their full share of vital nutrients: lean meats, fish and fowl; green and yellow vegetables; fruits; skim milk or buttermilk, cheese, cottage cheese; eggs; and whole grains.

Calories are restricted by leaving out the foods which furnish largely "empty" calories—fuel without protection.

Summer slimming diets are wonderfully good eating.

Teen-agers: Have whole milk if preferred...or add more fruit to lunch.

Dinner

Diver Doesn't Swim

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — After 17 years as a professional deep sea diver, A. F. Ackerman enrolled in a beginners swimming class here. He explained he didn't need to swim in his profession (he wears a 190-pound diver's suit), but he had always wanted to learn.

New York, which has 72 per cent more factories than a second-ranking California, is the leading industrial state.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remedy the loose lids on my outside garbage cans which are continually being knocked over by stray dogs and the contents spilling out over the yard?

A. The ordinary variety of screen-door spring will serve for this purpose. Put a hook on each end of the spring, and attach these hooks to the handles on either side of your can, running the spring over the top of the lid and through the handle on the lid. One of these hooks is then easily detached when you wish to remove the cover.

Q. What is a good way for warming leftover meats?

A. Place them in a pressure cooker and add three tablespoons of water. Let the steam build up to the starting point, remove from the fire, and let the pressure go down.

Q. How can I remove some paint spots from my linoleum floor if I have none of the ordinary paint remover on hand?

A. Some fingernail polish remover, rubbed on these spots with a cloth, will do the trick easily and quickly.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Help Child Get Ready For School

Suppose your child will enter kindergarten or the first grade in September. You will want to prepare him physically, mentally and emotionally for this experience. If you have not already done so, you should have a careful physical check made of him by his physician and dentist. Most of all, you want him to look forward hopefully and happily toward his first days at school. It would be wonderful if he might enjoy some fun with a few children who will be in the same class at school with him. It's helpful, too, if he has heard from you and older children only good things about going to school.

Garry C. Meyers

If, perchance, you learn that some children have teased him by false remarks about school bullies or sternness and severity of a teacher, you should try to reassure him, even to prevail on the teasing children to correct in him the false notion they planted in his head and heart.

—:—

YOU YOURSELF may recall a time when he was not very obedient and you said to him, "When you go to school your teacher will make you mind."

If you do have such memories, it's still not too late for you to tell him you are sorry you ever said such a thing and assure him his teacher will be a kind person he will like.

During the remaining period you are also going to try harder to help him practice waiting on himself, doing for himself what he is able to do, taking care of his own things, respecting the possessions and rights of others, conforming to routines and family regulations, finding enjoyment with some other children of his age and feeling comfortable while away from you.

By attracting to your home some other children of his age, one at first and more later, you can study your child and discover ways to guide him at being a good playmate. Also your reading to several of these children together, guiding them at making and doing things together, can prove a profitable experience to your child.

My bulletins, "Letting Baby and Tot Learn" and "Why Read to Baby and Young Child", may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Stuffed Fish Fillets Are Flavor Experience

Do you roll your own? Fish fillets, that is. And do you stuff them with the tastiest combination of spiced bread crumbs ever conceived by an imaginative culinary artist? If you don't, you should.

You should because this is one of the nicest, easiest ways to make fish a dish to look forward to. Follow this recipe exactly. Every ingredient is included for some special contribution it makes to a balanced flavor experience.

Stuffed Fish

¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup thinly sliced celery
3 tablespoons butter
2½ cups soft stale bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon sage
½ cup chopped walnut meats
4 large fish fillets

Cook onion and celery very slowly in 3 tablespoons butter for about 10 minutes. Pour over bread crumbs. Add salt, sage, and walnuts and mix lightly.

Sprinkle fillets with salt and pepper and spread with stuffing. Roll fillets and fasten with tooth picks. Place in shallow greased pan.

Pour two or three tablespoons water into pan and dot fillets with additional butter. Bake at 375 degrees about 45 minutes.

From Sun Worshipers

Clouds May 'Save' Nation

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If Aristotle were suddenly transported through time to a modern American beach, what would he think?

Glancing around at the sands studded with sprawling mortals slowly reddening under a hot sky, he could reach only one conclusion:

"What a strange heathen tribe these Americans are! Obviously they are sun worshipers. But what an odd form their rites take!

"Instead of sacrificing animals, they anoint themselves with oil, lie prostrate and turn themselves into burnt offerings under the terrible eye of their God. What awful guilt has driven them to this inhuman self-punishment?"

Wise old Aristotle would regard this as a form of cult madness, and even the most modern present-day physician would sadly have to agree with his diagnosis.

Comes June and millions of Americans quit chasing the dollar, and begin a new mass pursuit—a summer tan. They turn the country into one vast human barbecue pit.

Those who can afford to do so, go to the nearest real beach. Others take off as much clothing as the law allows and spreadeagle themselves on the grass of back yard or public park. Still others climb to their rooftops and slowly stew in their own juices on a "tar beach."

But wherever the sun shines, it shines on grub-white limbs and bald pates, on countless miles of human epidermis seeking a chameleon change. People too busy to lie in the sun try to apply instant tan from a bottle.

The theory behind this zany fad is that a tan makes a man look more virile, a woman more beautiful—and both sexes more healthy.

But, as any doctor knows, 15 minutes in the sun each day will make the average person as healthy as he needs to be for all practical purposes. And, as any cosmetician knows, too much exposure to the sun will in time make the skin beautiful only to one who admires the patina of old leather.

Two generations ago any responsible mother would spank a daughter who went out in the sun bare-headed and thereby risked ruining her fair complexion.

If this mass madness for an even deeper tan continues, the verdict of a future anthropologist on American civilization may be:

"They lay too long in the heat of the sun, and all went crazy at once."

What this country needs is sunnier winters and cloudier summers—to save us from ourselves!

Boyle, who recently returned from a vacation, is still peeling from a bad case of sunburn.

Nominees' Records 'Good'

Civil Rights To Be Vote Weapon

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the stones Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy throw at each other in the presidential campaign will be scooped up out of the battle-torn field of civil rights.

By the yardstick of the militant National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People both presidential candidates have racked up excellent records on civil rights in their 14 years apiece in Congress.

Such imperfections as exist in their records—at least in the eyes of all-out civil rights advocates—may sound like hair-splitting if the two candidates get into a shouting match on each other's civil rights performance.

Thus Negroes in the northern cities won't have much to choose between the two men on that issue. By the same token, neither will white Southerners who have long fought forceful civil rights legislation.

While the two men, Kennedy heading the Democratic ticket and Nixon in the Republicans' No. 1 spot, no doubt will spend some time trying to make each other look inferior on civil rights, probably spend more time talking about:

1. Details in the Democratic and Republican platform planks on civil rights, although both planks this year are the strongest in the history of either party. (The NAACP says the Democratic plank is the stronger of the two, but adds that the areas of agreement are much more significant than the differences.)

2. On the civil rights performance of both parties over the years and what civil rights advocates can expect if (a) the Democrats win and if (b) the Republicans do.

There is a deep irony in this campaign in which the two main candidates have outstanding civil rights records and both parties have come further than ever before with civil rights promises.

With other things being pretty equal—in the candidates' records and the parties' promises—some sophisticated leaders of the civil rights fight, both Negroes and whites, may fall back on traditional reasoning.

That is, that a Democratic victory will mean keeping Southern Democratic foes of civil rights in Congress in their key committee chairmanships which, as in the past, would enable them to try to keep civil rights legislation bottled up in committees.

If that diagnosis is correct, then a number of leaders in the long-drawn out fight for more and stronger civil rights laws may favor Nixon over Kennedy in this campaign.

A Nixon victory which gave Republicans control of the House would knock the Southern Democrats out of their committee chairmanships and replace them with Republicans, although it may be fallacious to consider this a boon to backers of civil rights bills.

If conservative House Republicans ignored Nixon and teamed up with Southern Democrats, as they have in the past, the blocks to civil rights bills would be just as effective as if the Democrats ran the House.

The picture gets even a little more confusing when you remember that in the Senate, where only one-third of the seats are at stake, the Democrats have such an overwhelming majority they will retain control even though Nixon wins the presidency.

There, just as in the past, Southern Democrats would retain their committee chairmanships. Still, despite their power, they weren't able to prevent the Senate from passing civil rights bills in 1957 and 1960.

What does it all add up to? Simply that it's going to be tough choosing for those most anxious to see quick improvement in the civil rights picture.

Here are imperfections in the Nixon-Kennedy records in the eyes of all-out civil righters:

Nixon has been consistently against a strong FEPC—Fair Employment Practices Commission—whose purpose, if created, would be to forbid or discourage discrimination against job-seekers because of their color or religion.

In the 1957 civil rights fight in the Senate Kennedy took a step which displeased the NAACP and was contrary to the thinking of some of the Senate liberals.

The House had passed a civil rights bill and sent it to the Senate. The usual procedure would have been to send it to the Judiciary Committee for consideration before it was laid before the full Senate.

Ordinarily, this might have been routine. But this wasn't an ordinary situation. Sen. James O. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat and arch-foe of civil rights, was chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

Because of this position of power, he would try to bottle up the House-passed bill. Kennedy voted to send it to the Eastland committee, even though there was pressure on him not to do so.

At the same time, he told the Senate if Eastland tried to smother the bill he would join with others in wrenching the measure out of the Mississippian's grip and forcing it before the Senate.

But Nixon, as vice president, helped kill the move to send the bill to the Eastland Committee; he let the bill by-pass the committee by an opinion from the chair.

Kennedy has a much longer record of voting for civil rights legislation if only because for the past seven years Nixon, as vice president, could not vote except when necessary to break a tie-vote on the Senate floor.

Nevertheless, as vice president he can give advisory opinions and he has used this power a couple of times in support of those trying to make it easier to block Southern filibusters against civil rights legislation.
